West Berlin Told U.S. Won't Desert

Senator Makes Surprise Visit

REDS CONTINUE WAR OF NERVES

Berlin (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) flew into this occupied city Sunday with assurances that the United States will not allow the Communists to grab it.

A Communist propaganda war of nerves was mirrored in the East German Communist party organ Neues Deutschland, which said the time has come for the allies to get out of Berlin.

"The situation in Berlin is unbearable," Neues Deutschland asserted. "West Berlin has become a Quemoy."

"Facist and military associations have sprung like mushrooms out of the earth . . . under the protection of the (West Berlin) government."

Nazi Charge

The paper charged that 32% of the employes of the West Berlin police department are Nazis and ex-Gestapo men, that 28,000 West Berlin city employes once worked for the Nazi government, that 33 Nazi judges are sitting on West Berlin courts.

The article was illustrated with a fake photograph showing West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt wearing a U.S. Army helmet and giving orders to a column of American tanks.

Another barrel of the propaganda war — silence — involved Moscow. There had been indications Moscow planned to release diplomatic notes yesterday on what its next move on Berlin would be.

No Help There

But the notes didn't come, nor was there any indication when they might. The East German radio didn't help matters any by declaring:

"It's very likely that the Soviet memorandum has not even been written yet."

Thus, it was an atmosphere of suspense and tension that Sen. Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, found in this divided city, isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Standing bareheaded in the shadow of the famed Brandenburg Gate, chief entrance to Communist East Berlin, Humphrey told Mayor Brandt he brought assurances from President Eisenhower, from Congress and from the American people.

Speaking in front of television cameras, he declared the United States is determined to preserve West Berlin as "a citadel of freedom" inside the Communist world.

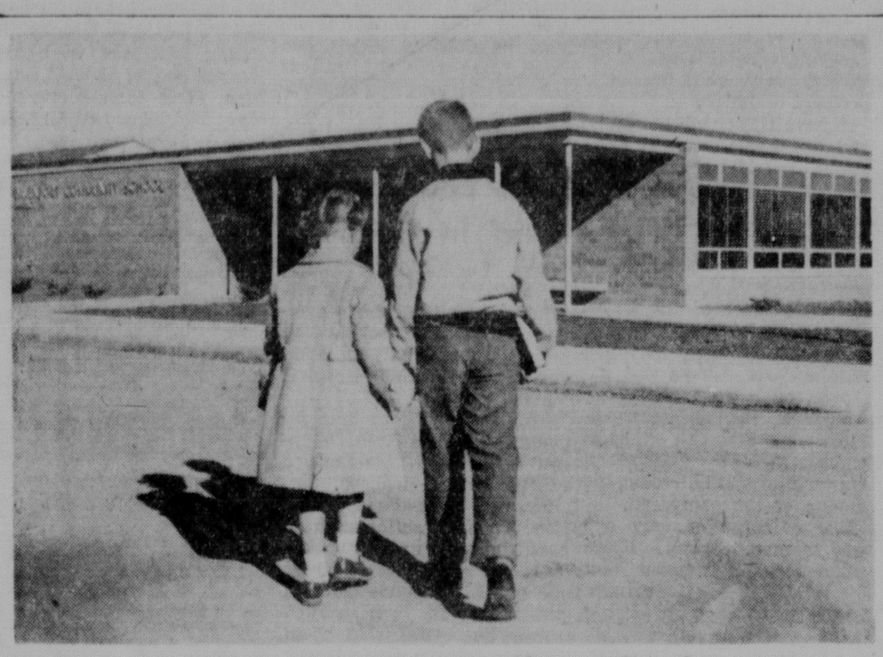
"We will never let you down," Humphrey declared.

Gets Thanks

Thanking Humphrey for his pledge, Brandt said West Berliners "will never forget that your government and your people saved us from starving and brought us through the blockade 10 years ago."

This was a reference to the 1948-49 Soviet blockade which was broken only with a continuous, 'round-the-clock airlift.

Leaving Brandenburg gate, the Humphrey-Brandt party carefully skirted East Berlin territory and drove to Tempelhof airport. There Humphrey laid flowers at the base of a monument dedicated to those killed accidentally in the 1948-49 airlift.



It's Fun To Go To This School

Going to school can be fun if you have a new building. These kids are heading toward their new building at Davenport, Neb. The school was dedicated Sunday. (Star Staff Photo.)

Best Of Everything—That's The Way Davenport Feels About New School

By David Clark

Davenport, Neb. — The little red school house never had it so good.

That's what students, parents and teachers think about their new community school dedicated Sunday.

"You shouldn't think of a bond election as an expense but as an investment in the future," Dr. Freeman Decker, state commissioner of education, told the 800 persons who attended the dedication.

"Almost always you can drive into a town, look at the school, and pretty well evaluate the school," he said.

The new building has 9 classrooms, a kindergarten room, study hall-library, science room, shop, homemaking room, music room, lunchroom, kitchen, boys' locker room, boiler room, administration area and private office.

Latest Equipment

Each room has a thermostat. Fifteen different exhaust systems will keep the school free of stuffy fumes. A two-way communication system keeps each room in contact with the office.

The kitchen has stainless steel sinks, a dishwasher and two new refrigerators. Tinted glass windows and accoustical tile ceilings save the eyes and ears from glare and noise. Vitreous enamel on the lower half of the walls and in the shower rooms make sanitation easy.

But as far as taxpayers in District 47 are concerned, the most beautiful thing about the new building is its low cost —just over $9 per square foot.

Total cost will run about $238,000 when landscaping, the homemaking room and some small detail work have been completed, said Paul Wieckhorst, superintendent.

Can Triple High School

"The school is so constructed that our present high school could triple and we could take care of it," Wieckhorst said.

"Our grade school enrollment could increase by 30%," he added.

District 47 has an enrollment of 180. This year's senior class has 14 students and next year's should have 20, Wieckhorst said. Kindergarten enrollment is 19.

Classes were held in the old building until the school year ended last summer. Then the old building was torn down and the new one completed in time for classes to start Sept. 15. The south wing of the new school had been constructed earlier.

One at Home

Everyone had a chance to take a good look at the new building Sunday except 12-year-old Janice Isernhagen, who has been attending school for 10 weeks without seeing the inside of the school.

Janice is flat on her back at home, where she must remain until after Christmas, recuperating from a weakened spine as a result of polio.

Through a telephone, Janice can hear everything that goes on in class and can take part in class discussion. She hands her assignments in through her mother, who works in the school kitchen.

"I'm pretty anxious to get back to school and see the building," she said.

Davenport students share Janice's enthusiasm for the new school. In fact, Wieckhorst is wondering how he can get rid of the graduating seniors. They all want to stay.

FLAMING BOMBS ARE THROWN AT NORTHEAST

Lincoln police were searching late Sunday night for "4 boys" believed responsible for throwing a number of home-made gasoline bombs against the east wall of the Northeast High School building.

Only slight damage resulted, firemen said. Police noted that one of the bombs ignited a wooden window frame at the entrance to the building.

The vandals apparently made the bombs by filling bottles with an inflammable liquid and igniting it with a toilet tissue fuse, police said.

Demo Leaders To Meet On No. 2 Post Recount

. . . Sorrell Says He Won't Pay Cost

State Democratic party leaders will confer Monday on whether to contest the election for lieutenant governor.

Democratic Frank Sorrell lost to Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney by 4,089 votes in the election. Monday is deadline for filing notice of contest action.

"The decision will be Mr. Sorrell's," Robert B. Conrad, party executive secretary, said Sunday. Conrad said various party leaders will confer.

Sorrell said Sunday at his home in Syracuse that if the Democratic party wants to put up the money for a recount, he will not stand in the party's way. He said he does not plan to personally finance a recount.

"I'm not going to spend $30,000 for a $1,700-a-year job," Sorrell said. "If anybody puts up the money for me, it'll be the Democratic party."

'Some Mistakes'

"I think there were some mistakes made in those last 700-800 precincts," Sorrell said.

Announcement will probably be made sometime after noon Monday on whether contest action will be filed, Conrad said.

"The big reason for considering contest action is that Sorrell led all night long until the late hours of the morning," Conrad said. "All at once his 2,500-vote lead went on the last few hundred precincts. For that reason we feel there is some possibility of error."

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said Sunday that should the Democrats contest the lieutenant governor's race, their bond would be proportionate to the Republican bond for contesting the governor's and treasurer's races.

Marsh's estimates on those two races range from $15,000 to $30,000. He said law allows him to increase the amount required later should expenses be higher than anticipated.

Meanwhile, Republican Joe Wishart is expected to file with the Secretary of State Monday a certified check for $31,000 to guarantee payment of costs in the GOP contest of the governor and treasurer races, both apparently won by Democrats by small margins.

Freak Accident Kills Woman Near Fremont

Fremont, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Adams, 58, of West Point was killed Sunday in a freak accident involving a pickup truck on U.S. Hwy 77, about a mile north of Fremont.

State Safety Patrolman Fay Robeson said she was a passenger in the pickup driven by her husband, Vincent O. Adams.

Robeson said there was a train at a crossing and Adams applied the brakes of the pickup and the vehicle skidded across the road and crashed into a parked car owned by Tom Skinner of Fremont.

The Skinner car was sitting on the road shoulder at the time. There was no one in it.

Adams escaped injury. Robeson said the door of the pickup came open and Mrs. Adams suffered a fatal head injury.

The death raised the state highway fatality toll for the year to 306 as compared with 259 a year ago.

Princess Sophie dances with actor Robert Stack.

Greek Princess Belle Of Hollywood Charity Ball

Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP) — She could have danced all night, and Princess Sophie of Greece almost did at the World Adoption International Fund imperial ball.

The princess and her mother, Queen Frederika, were guests of honor at the $50 a plate benefit at the Beverly Hilton. The Hollywood matrons who sponsored the social affair had asked beforehand if Princess Sophie would like to dance.

The royal court responded that the princess, who is 20 and lovely, would certainly like to dance. Film celebrities would be approved as partners, it was added, if they were "comme il faut" (socially acceptable.)

According to protocol, Princess Sophie started the dancing for the 1,200 guests. She began a waltz on the empty floor with her official escort, William Kirk, executive of WAIF, an international child adoption agency.

Ex-Lincolnite Craig Callen Dies In Crash

Greeley, Colo. — Craig L. Callen, 21, of Greeley, died Saturday night in a traffic accident one-half mile north of Ft. Lupton on U.S. 85.

Callen

Callen, a student at Colorado State College, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Perry of Lincoln.

According to the Associated Press, the Colorado State Patrol said Callen was driving a car that went off the highway onto the shoulder, overturned once on the highway and twice in the roadside ditch. Callen was thrown 32feet from the car and died of a fractured skull at the scene.

A passenger, Michael W. Rood, 23, of Greeley ,suffered face and scalp lacerations.

Callen was a native of Lincoln and graduated from Lincoln High School, where he lettered in football. He had attended the University of Nebraska, and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

He is survived by his parents; aunts, Mrs. Ralph Williams of Roca, Mrs. Maxine Ruckle of Florence, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Dagerman of Omaha; and an uncle, serving with the armed forces in Korea.

Pastor's Sympathy Wasted—

'I Want Him To Play,' Mamie Says Of Ike's Golf

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower disclosed with a smile Sunday she doesn't mind being a golf widow at all. She said she likes to have the President play his favorite game.

The first lady shattered any belief to the contrary in chatting with the pastor after morning services at the Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The minister, Dr. Charles H. Gibboney, walked to the door with the vacationing Eisenhowers and remarked with a look at the bright sunshine:

Hard To Do

"This is the kind of weather that makes it hard to keep the President home and off the golf course."

Mrs. Eisenhower flashed a smile and replied:

"I don't want to keep him off. I want him to be there."

The first lady's feeling about her husband's golf is the same as that of the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder. He has said the President's health benefits from golf and that he ought to play as often as possible.

And that is just what Eisenhower has been doing since he arrived at the Augusta National Golf Club for a 10-day Thanksgiving holiday.

He has played 18 holes each day.

DeGaulle Powerful At Ballot

Voters Hand Reds Setback

Paris (Monday) (AP) — The magic name of Premier de Gaulle had carried a string of coattail candidates to victory in Sunday's legislative elections, the first in the infant Fifth Republic.

The Communists were swamped.

With more than 14 million votes counted, only 37 candidates had hailed down national assembly seats with absolute majorities. There was only one Communist among them.

At stake in the elections were 465 seats for mainland France.

The interior ministry had predicted about 100 candidates would win the first round voting.

Runoff

But as returns became conclusive, it appeared most must contest in the runoff next Sunday where a simple majority will suffice.

The Communists faced the prospect of tough fights in the runoff elections to get as many as 40 seats. That is less than one-third the number they had in the last assembly, where they held a quarter of the seats.

Jacques Duclos, the boss of France's Communist party, was in trouble inside his communist voting stronghold.

Besides hammering down the communist party, the results spelled defeat for outspoken opponents of De Gaulle in other parties.

Although De Gaulle tried to remain aloof from the race, a wide range of candidates who support his thinking about how the Fifth Republic should function either were swept into office or into favorable runoff positions.

An Example

Communist losses were demonstrated clearly in the Paris area with its so-called Red belt, where their percentage vote was 25.93 compared with 33.3 two years ago.

Duclos was leading in his Paris district with 21,049 votes but was short of an absolute majority. His opponents, moderate Dr. Jean-Pierre Profichet with 18,218 and Socialist Henri Frenay with 10,410, are strong vote getters.

If one pulls out of the race in favor of the others, Duclos could be beaten next Sunday. It is a maneuver that is expected to be followed there and in other districts in an obvious drive to beat Communists.

Cold, Light Snow Seen For Nebraska

Occasional snow or light freezing drizzle is forecast for western Nebraska for the second straight day. The rest of the state is expected to be cloudy and cold, the Weather Bureau said.

The cold front which moved into the state Sunday forced the thermometer down and covered most of Nebraska with freezing drizzle and fog.

In Lincoln after the temperature climbed to a state high of 55 by 1 p.m. the cold front pushed it down 14 degrees in one hour followed by light mist.

Drizzle and fog were reported at Ainsworth, Valentine, Omaha, Norfolk and Grand Island. Winds ranging from 19 to 28 mph were reported in Omaha, North Platte, Norfolk and Grand Island areas.

Monday's highs according to the Weather Bureau are expected to range from the lower 20s northwest to the upper 30s extreme southeast.

Farm Prices Dip Forecast

1959 Outlook Is Clouded By Expected Hog Market Drop

Prices received by farmers, which this year are the highest in 5 years, are expected to dip in 1959 mainly because of lower prices for hogs, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Although an increasing flow of products from farms will probably maintain total cash receipts from farm marketings, the elimination of acreage reserve program payments after 1958 and prospects for a further rise in production expenses is expected to bring a 5 to 10% drop in realized net farm income.

This year, net income is running some 20% above 1957, and the highest in 5 years.

Underlying the agricultural outlook for 1959 are prospects for: increased consumer income and a stronger demand for food and other farm products; slightly reduced foreign export; and continued heavy supplies of farm products generally, with wheat and feed grain supplies especially burdensome.

Large Carryover

As a result of record output, carryover stocks of wheat, which had been reduced moderately in recent years, will be much larger when the 1959 wheat crop begins to move to market.

Carryovers of corn and other feed grains will increase further to a new high at the end of the current feeding year, according to the USDA.

Crop output in 1959 is expected to be as large as in the bumper current year, even if weather conditions are no better than average. Yields per acre may not average much lower because of continuing improvements in crop technology.

Output of some livestock and livestock products is expected to increase in 1959. Hog production is expanding, reflecting a large supply of feed and profitable hog-corn price ratios.

Walkout At TWA Goes On

Strikes Threaten Other Airlines

Kansas City (AP)—Huge Trans World Airlines and a smaller west coast company remained virtually closed down in the third day of strikes by the International Assn. of Machinists. The union has authorized a walkout against another company and other unions threaten to tie up two other airlines Monday and Tuesday.

A sixth airline resumed partial service after a settlement with the machinists.

A spokesman for TWA said there were no new developments in the strike by that company's 6,700 machinists and almost all of the airline's 200 planes are on the ground. A stalemate continues between the machinists and West Coast airlines but supervisory personnel provided limited service in that company's territory of Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Capital Resumes

Capital Airlines scheduled about one-third of its normal flights Sunday to mark the end of a 37-day walkout by machinists. Service will be increased until normal passenger traffic is resumed Wednesday.

Three TWA overseas flights into New York Sunday were the only civilian planes of the company in the air and company officials said that they would not take off again after landing. However, flights chartered by the military will continue. TWA is the nation's fourth largest airline.

Other Airlines, Too

The machinists also are in a dispute with Northeast airlines.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. (ALPA) has scheduled a walkout against American airlines at midnight Tuesday.

Pay, rules and working conditions are involved.

A strike against Eastern Airlines has been set for midnight Tuesday by the Flight Engineers International Assn. The union objects to a company requirement that engineers on jet flights must have pilot training.

Grandsinger Trial Enters Second Week

Rushville, Neb. (UPI)—The state will resume its efforts Monday to prove that Lloyd Carroll Grandsinger, 23, a slim part-Indian from Wewela, S.D., shot and killed a state patrolman in the rugged sandhills country near Valentine in 1954.

Special Prosecutor Tom Kelley, Omaha, said the state would probably conclude its presentation of evidence sometime Tuesday. Defense attorneys said they would need two days or more to present their case, indicating it would go to the all-male Sheridan County District Court jury about Saturday.

The state contends Grandsinger shot down trooper Marvin Hansen as the officer closed in on him after stopping him on a lonely road in April, 1954.

Grandsinger was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death later that year for the slaying, but a federal court ruled that the defendant had not received effective counsel and must be retried or set free.

The second week of the new trial opens Monday.

Last week, several statements taken from Grandsinger shortly after his capture were entered as evidence. In one of them, Grandsinger was quoted as saying he "guessed" he had shot Hansen.

It was brought out that the defendant had once agreed to take a "truth serum" test. At this point, Grandsinger jumped to his feet and interrupted testimony to declare he would still be glad to take such a test.

Workers Milita Revived In Russia

Moscow (AP) — The revival of armed workers' milita in the Leningrad region was described by the trade union newspaper Trud as the "first step in the gradual transmission of functions of the state into hands of public organizations."

The militiamen, who will be selected from volunteers and serve in their free time without pay, were urged to use persuasion in their campaign against "robbers, hooligans and drunkards." But, Trud added, "sometimes force may be necessary and members should be armed."

Overflow Crowd Hears Joyce Flissler

Joyce Flissler, violinist, and the University Symphony Orchestra, with Emanuel Wishnow conducting, played to an overflow crowd at the Student Union Ballroom Sunday night.

Displaying tremendous technique and facility, Miss Flissler received an ovation following the conclusion of Beethoven's Violin Concerto in D.

The young and talented Miss Flissler has recently been in the news as the only violinist outside the Iron Curtain to place in the International Tschaikowsky Music Competition—the same competitive festival which brought fame to Van Cliburn.

In addition to accompanying the Concerto, the orchestra also played: Overture to an Italian Comedy, by Benjamin; A Dance Rhapsody, by Delius; First Essay for Orchestra, by Barber and Midsommarvaka-Swedish Rhapsody, by Alfven.

Guinea, Ghana To Be United

Accra, Ghana (AP)—The new republic of Guinea has decided to join Ghana in a United republic, leaders of the two African nations announced Sunday.

Premiers Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and Sekou Toure of Guinea said in a joint statement:

"Inspired by the 13 American colonies, which on attainment of their independence constituted themselves into a confederacy which ultimately developed into the United States, we premiers of Ghana and Guinea, on behalf of our respective governments, and subject to ratification by our respective national assemblies, have agreed to constitute our two states as the nucleus of a union of West African states."

Guinea, formerly a French colony, proclaimed itself a republic last Oct. 2 after its people had voted heavily against the new French constitution proposed by Premier de Gaulle.

Ghana and Guinea are about 350 miles apart at their nearest point in West Africa.

Alaskans To Vote Despite Cold, Snow

Juneau, Alaska (AP)—Despite the prospect of snow and bitter cold in many sections of the vast territory, Alaska's first election Tuesday as an embryo state will draw 35,000 to 40,000 to the polls, party leaders predicted Sunday.

The balloting will be for two new U.S. senators, one congressman, a governor, secretary of state and 60 members of Alaska's first state Legislature.

Democrats are heavily favored.

Robert Groseclose, chairman of the Republican central committee, estimated the total vote would be in the neighborhood of 38,000.

A forecast of between 35,000 and 40,000 was given by Felix Toner, the Democratic party chief.

New High

Balloting by 40,000 Alaskans would set a new high for a general election, but would fall well short of the 46,000 votes cast last August in a special referendum at which statehood for Alaska was approved by a 5-1 margin.

Most of the major candidates were gathered either at Anchorage or Fairbanks, Alaska's largest cities, for the windup of the campaign.

The outcome of only one race seemed certain. There was general agreement that E. L. Bartlett, Democratic delegate to Congress for the past 14 years, would win one of two Senate seats handily.

Rest Close

Republican and Democratic chances in other main contests appeared close.

The race for the other U.S. Senate seat pits Alaska's last appointive governor, Republican Mike Stepovich, against ex-Gov. Ernest Gruening, a Democrat. It is rated a toss-up.

As election day approached, the weather outlook was typical for late November in Alaska.

COL. SANDERS PLEADS FOR SAFE DRIVING ON THANKSGIVING TRIPS

Thanksgiving weekend is a good time for motorists to remember that driving is a privilege, not a right, according to Col. C. J. Sanders of the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

Sanders

"If we are really thankful for this privilege, we will demonstrate this attitude behind the wheel," he said. "In holiday driving, let's show fellow motorists that we care about them as well as ourselves," he added.

The state official called attention to a National Safety Council study which shows that in fatal accidents last year, there were 77 violations per 100 drivers. Major violations in these accidents were exceeding the speed limit, failing to keep right of the center line, and driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

"When these and other violations are committed in bad weather and on slippery roads, danger is increased for oneself and other highway users," Sanders said.

Nebraska had no traffic deaths on Thanksgiving Day last year, but there were 4 deaths over the weekend following Thanksgiving, Sanders said.

Mrs. Yoder Still 'Fair' In Hospital

Mrs. Lucie Wilson Yoder, 64, of 225 No. 25th, who was injured in a fatal 3-car accident Friday afternoon at 25th and R, was in fair condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital Sunday night.

Fatally injured in that accident was Miss Ruth Hutchins, 66, of 5203 Cleveland, a retired Lincoln teacher.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Yoder is suffering from head injuries and a broken leg. She was the apparent driver of the small foreign car in which both women were riding, police said, when it was in collison with a larger car driven by Dale M. Johnson, 34, of 603 No. 27th, a city bus driver.

40 & 8 Has Annual Thanksgiving

The annual Thanksgiving dinner of Lancaster Salon 92 40 and 8, was held at the home of Mrs. Genie McGlasson. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Warren Baker, Mrs. Al Sweetman, Mrs. John Scott, Mrs. Mary McVicker and Mrs. William J. McVicker.

Mrs. William McVicker told the group about her recent trip to Europe and of her impressions of the peoples of various countries in contrast with people of the United States.

Mrs. John Mekota of Crete, La Petit Chapeau, presided at a short business meeting.

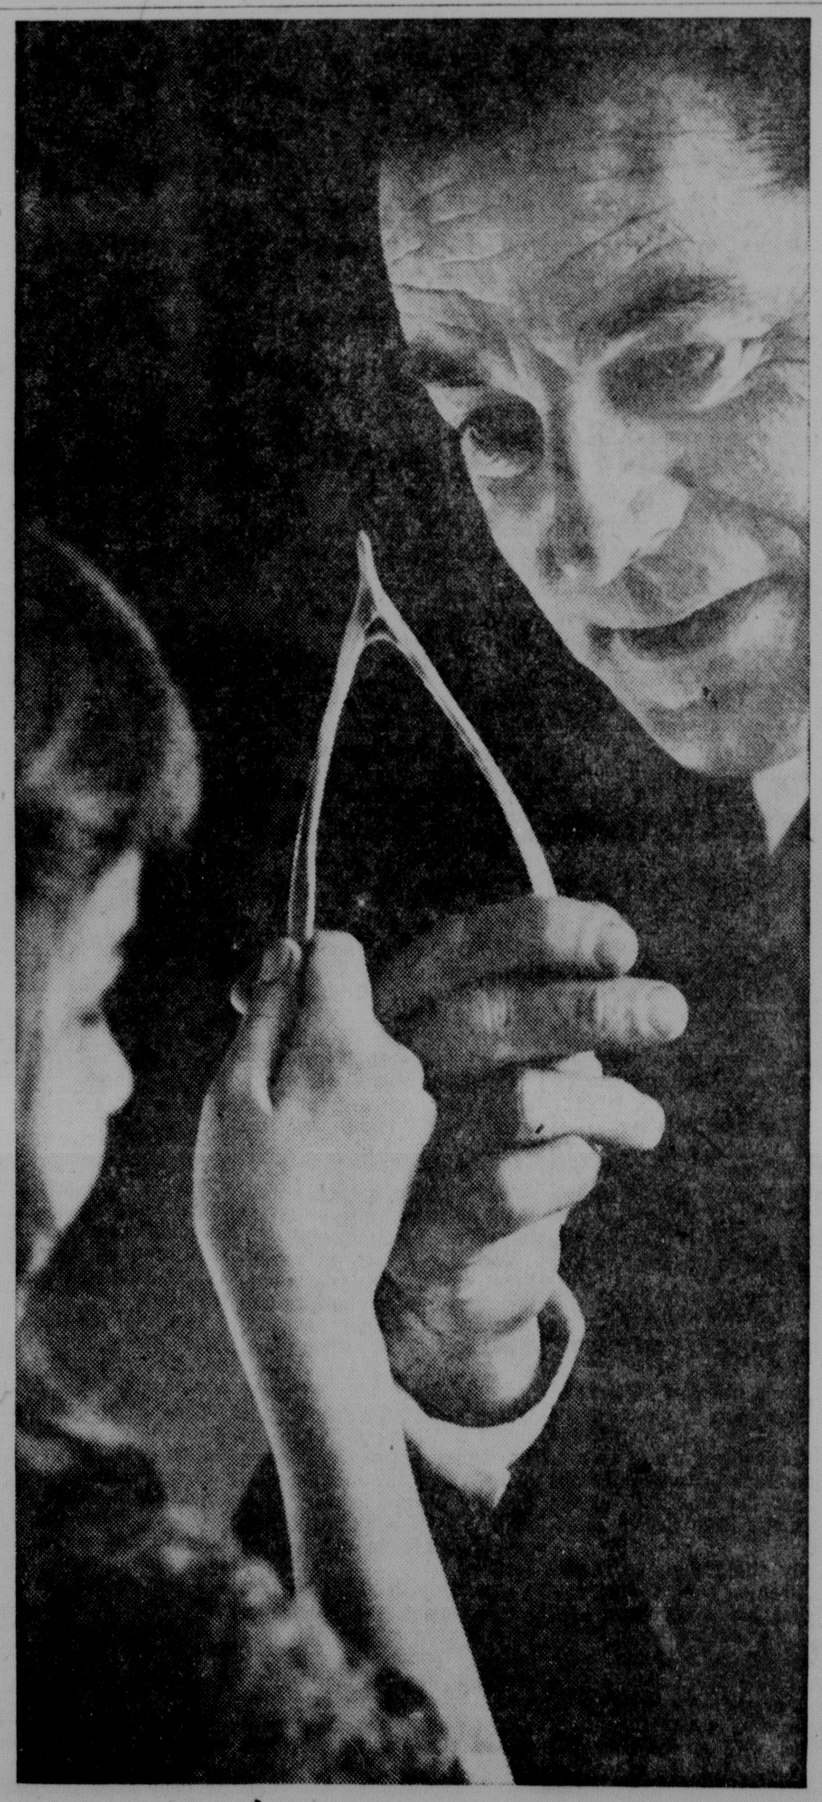
What is a father's fondest wish?



First a prayer of thanksgiving for past blessings. Now, a wish for the future.

What will it be?

Simply, perhaps, that his family will never want for the good things of life. That, among other things, they will always have a home of their own and that the children will be able to complete their education. Someday, too, a comfortable retirement for himself and his wife.

Reasonable wishes, every one. But he knows, as does every good provider, that such wishes need help in coming true.

Perhaps you had never thought of your life insurance in quite that way: something that helps make your fondest hopes more than just a wish.

Retired Wilber Carpenter Now Painter, Writer

By David Clark

Wilber, Neb. — "I'll bet $1,000 I can do anything better than anybody."

That's the offer of 69-year-old Frank Dejml, retired Wilber carpenter who spends his time now painting, writing stories and poems, and doing things better than most other people.

"I can't jump, run or swim now," said Dejml, "but I got proof I did." And he has proof he's done other things, too.

When he retired four years ago, Dejml took up painting in his spare time. Today the walls of his house, which he built himself, incidentally, are covered with his paintings. The most impressive is a copy of "The Last Supper" by Leonardo da Vinci, a pretty fair jack-of-all-trades himself.

From Color Slide

Dejml saw a print of the painting in a funeral home at Crete. He borrowed the picture and made a color slide of it which he then put on his home projector as a guide to work from. It took four months to complete the painting as it now appears, but Dejml plans to retouch parts of it when he has time.

"Every hand talks in this painting," he said. "Every line hits at one point. That's what gives perspective."

Dejml's development as a painter is fairly recent. For years, however, he has been a regular contributor to Czech language publications in this country and Europe. For several years he wrote a regular column titled "The Complainer and the Optimist" for a magazine published in Omaha, and several of his poems have been published at home and abroad.

'Knight's Trot'

Becuase he thinks the crossword puzzle has been around too long, Dejml has invented a word puzzle based on moves the knight makes in chess. By moving across the squares the same way the knight moves, the player can put together words to form a poem which is the solution. Dejml calls his game "Knight's Trot."

Dejml came to this country in 1909. He planned to return to Czechoslovakia after seeing what the United States was like.

"When you are 20 you think you'd like to see something," he said. "I thought I would like to go back but I had no money. Besides, over there when you are 20 you can't leave the country legally because you have to serve in the army. I was afraid to go back because I was afraid I would have to serve twice as long."

Czech Legion

But when WWI came, Dejml volunteered to join the Czechoslovakian Legion. He and 2,500 other Czechs and Slavs left this country and went to France, where they saw action at Vousiers.

After the war, Dejml returned to the U.S. He became a citizen in 1924. He didn't return to Czechoslovakia until 10 years ago. When he did go, he took eight trunks, mostly filled with things for his friends and relatives in the old country. In one trunk, however, Dejml had his own WWI medals and a distinguished service cross and purple heart won by a son killed on Guadalcanal in WWII.

"At Liverpool, England, I had to go through customs," he said. "The customs man opened that trunk first and saw the medals.

"'Are they yours?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I said.

"'Close all the trunks,' he said. And he didn't even look at the rest of my trunks."

Son at Same Place

Dejml's other son was a sergeant in the combat engineers and saw action in Europe at the same place Dejml fought when he was a soldier. That son, Milo, is now a cement mason in Spokane, Wash. Dejml's daughter lives in Hampton, Fa., where her husband is in the Air Force.

In the years he has been at Wilber, Dejml has built many of the town's houses and business places, as well as farm buildings in the surrounding area. His list of accomplishments run from sidewalk building to cake baking, and he is supremely confident he can outdo anyone at his own game.

"I bet I can beat him with what I know in my head, not what I've read," Dejml said, and he seems eager to prove it.

"If you find anyone with $1,000," he said, "send him over."

Dejml And His 'Last Supper'

"Every hand in this painting talks," says Frank Dejml, 69-year-old retired Wilber carpenter who has built quite a reputation as a local painter. The picture Dejml is referring to is his copy of Leonardo da Vinci's "The Last Supper". It took Dejml four months to paint his version, which is on display at his home. Dejml is pointing to the vanishing point, where, he says, all the lines in the floor and walls converge to give perspective. (Star Staff Photo)

Two Women Hurt In 17th & D Crash

Two Lincoln women were hospitalized in a two-car collision at 17th and D, according to city police.

In fair condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital is Mrs. Mary Dorn, 72, of 1657 So. Cotner. Listed as fairly good was Mrs. Muriel M. Sheldon, 51, of 2419 Park Ave. Both suffered cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Dorn was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Edna L. Graham, 46, of 1657 So. Cotner, while Mrs. Sheldon was riding in a car driven by her husband, Charles H. Sheldon, 51, police said.

Algerian Lawyer Assassin Victim

Rabat, Morocco (AP) —A French Algerian lawyer who defended Algerian rebel Ahmed Ben Bella before a French Military Court was assassinated here. The victim, M. Thuveny, was killed when a bomb exploded inside his car, parked in front of a cathedral.

The incident occurred shortly before Premier Ferhat Abbas of the Algerian government in exile arrived at the royal palace for an audience with King Mohammed V.

Thuveny came here from Algeria 5 months ago. He defended Ben Bella in Algiers in 1953 and 1954. Ben Bella, who was accused of directing the Nationalist rebellion, later escaped to Cairo. He has been named vice premier of the Algerian Provisional Government, thought he is imprisoned in Paris. He was arrested in 1956 while flying from Morocco to Tunis for a meeting.

Tunisia Jails Egyptians; Claim Plot

Gabes, Tunisia (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba announced Sunday the arrest of several Egyptian officers on charges of trying to stir up Algerian nationalists in Tunisia against their own leaders.

He made the announcement in a speech before thousands of cheering Tunisians during a ceremony to distribute land to peasants in this southern Tunisian town.

Bourguiba did not say how many Egyptians had been arrested nor where they were being held.

He said the arrests were made by Tunisian police.

The pro-western Tunisian president is friendly to the Algerian rebels, but has carried on a feud with President Camal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. A few months ago Bourguiba charged the Nasser government permitted an emissary to come here from Egypt with instructions for his assassination.

Officials traveling with the president refused any further information about the arrests.

Dad Can Still Laugh After His 18th Child

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—A 42-year-old wife who told her husband when they married that she wanted two dozen children neared her goal Sunday.

Mrs. Mervin Ramer's 18th child, a 7-pound, 14-ounce boy, was born at St. Paul's hospital here.

"She wasn't kidding," said Ramer recalling his wife's statement. "Why, I just laughed when she said it." He was still laughing.

Facilities at St. Paul's were again rendered "compliments of the house." Attendants explained that over the years the Ramers had paid enough.

Charter Steps Needed

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

What with dog and cat laws before them, the wheel tax election hardly behind them, and the holiday season coming upon them, it is not surprising that the City Council members have given little thought lately to the proposed new city charter. Just by way of a reminder, it might be well if the Council dug this issue up and made a few basic decisions.

It is imperative that two things be decided by the Council. It must decide what it plans to do with the charter. It can either take exactly what the charter revision committee has given it and submit it to a vote or it can rework the committee findings where it sees fit, perhaps adding some changes of its own. There are arguments in behalf of both procedures but more logic can be seen in the Council going carefully over the charter and submitting to the people what it believes to be a good proposal.

Decision On Charter

When and if the new charter is submitted, the public is going to want to know where the mayor and Council stand. It is logical for people to want to place some confidence in the position of these officials as they are the public's elected representatives, expected to provide such leadership as this.

Also, the Council, more than any other group of people, should know best what needs correcting in the present charter and what proposals will be an improvement. These are the men who deal with the problems of the city from week to week and they are thus familiar with the shortcomings of the structure of government we now have.

Not that there won't be disagreement with the findings of the Council, should that group take a firm position in the matter, but such an action would serve to guide the thinking of many people. The charter committee would take no offense at such Council action as it was never given to understand that its findings were necessarily final in the matter.

Also, there are a few new questions which have presented themselves since the committee made its final draft of a new charter. The Council, it seems, would want to take up any of these new issues that have presented themselves. If the Council is to take an active part in the matter, a great deal of time will be needed by them.

This brings up the second thing that should be determined in the very near future. There seems to be no definite date set at this time for submission of the charter to the people for a vote. An advisory committee, appointed to consider this aspect recommended a January election.

It would seem that the later in January the election comes, the better it would be but the matter should be settled. We are already well into and nearly through the month of November. If the decision on time of the election were made within the next week and the date set for the end of January, we would still have only eight, or at best nine weeks in which to prepare for the election.

Much of this time would be during a season of the year when it will be difficult to interest people in important affairs of government. It is a time of year for other more pleasant activities. Time is vital in this case because of the volume of material that would be submitted to voters. There are now a total of 34 proposed amendments, most of them of considerable length and all of them significant. It is going to take time to present them adequately to the people so an intelligent vote can be obtained.

Time Element Important

There is no requirement, of course, that the election be held in January but with that month having been recommended, it behooves the Council either to confirm or deny it. The issue is not one that should be left to linger indefinitely and cannot be delayed long without running into the regular city elections in April and May.

Alaskans Treated To Pie-In-The-Sky

WASHINGTON — Tomorrow the 49th state will hold its first national elections in history.

From Eskimo villages along the Bering Sea to the great forests near British Columbia, candidates of both political parties have been beating the bushes and the icecaps wooing votes. Democratic candidates are certain to sweep the state.

Most interesting and effective campaigner has been the cabinet official in charge of Alaska, efficient, popular Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton. Flying in a chartered DC-3 with the top Republican candidates, Seaton has been passing out bubble gum to Eskimo children and greeting gushing Eskimo women.

"I meet you, big shot," rhapsodized one Eskimo lady at the Bering sea village of Unalakleet on a Sunday morning. "I miss church but I meet big shot."

She pumped the hand of the slightly flabbergasted secretary of the Interior.

☆ ☆ ☆

If Seaton was flabbergasted, however, Alaskans who have watched his New Deal largess and simultaneously read the speeches of Dwight D. Eisenhower have been more so. While Ike was accusing "spendthrift" Democrats in Washington, Fred Seaton was promising "spendthrift" schools, bridges, and pipelines to Alaskan voters. The school board of Clinton, Tenn., which wasn't even able to see Eisenhower to get help for its dynamited high school, would be thunderstruck at Seaton's openhanded generosity.

In Point Barrow, Seaton promised a new National Guard armory, a new water system, a natural gas line from the Navy's near-by gas well, and a high school with manual training shops, machine shops, housekeeping department — things that delight an Eskimo's soul.

"For a half dozen years people in Point Barrow have been trying to get natural gas piped in from the Navy's gas field," later remarked Alaskan Delegate Bob Bartlett. "But Seaton's Bureau of Indian Affairs opposed it. I'm glad Seaton has finally got around to overruling his own bureaucrats."

Bartlett knew what he was talking about. He had urged repeatedly that Point Barrow should get natural gas.

The fast-moving Secretary of the Interior also promised hearings leading toward a ban on fish traps. This is something Alaskans have wanted for years. The traps favor the big canners, hurt the individual fishermen who sees salmon fishing dwindle every year.

Twice Mike Tepovich, the Republican whom Secretary Seaton is turning handsprings to elect to the Senate, has voted against the abolition of fish traps. But, campaigning desperately for a GOP senator from Alaska, Seaton reversed his own candidate and declared against fish traps.

DR. I. M. LEVITT

Wonders Of The Universe

In preparing for space travel, it is imperative we know how weightlessness affects the mental and physical condition of humans. But simulating weightlessness for extended periods of time is extremely difficult.

Weightlessness, of course, will be experienced whenever man blasts away from the earth in a rocket. Whether it goes into orbit around the earth or continues onward, the rocket and everything in it will be weightless.

The Russians sent the dog Laika on a rocket trip to study the reactions of a living animal to the stresses of space travel. A Russian aviation medicine expert, Dr. V. Malkin, has reported in a Russian medical journal that within four or five minutes after the dog reached a "weightless" state its pulse rate, blood pressure and respiration shook off the effects of acceleration and returned to normal.

Unfortunately for science, Dr. Malkin ignored or overlooked the fact that Laika may not have entered the weightless state at all.

☆ ☆ ☆

Laika, remember, was riding in Sputnik II which tumbled along on an oribtal path. This tumbling set up a centrifugal force providing artificial pull of gravity. In this case, Laika could not have felt true weightlessness.

This writer has worked out the mathematics of the situation:

Laika's container was tumbling with a four-second period of rotation. If the dog's head was positioned five feet from the center of rotation, then it felt an acceleration of 11 feet per second; this is approximately one-third of the gravitation all of us experience on earth.

Was Laika in gravity-free space? Russian scientists say she was. Dr. Levitt thinks differently — and has facts to prove it.

Hence, if Laika weighed 30 pounds on the earth's surface, it weighed 10 pounds in Sputnik II — and true weightlessness requires the absence of anything measurable on any scale.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ultimately the solution may come in launching a "biological satellite" in a unique type of stable platform.

In the ordinary stable platform, the animals are always positioned in a certain direction with respect to space. While they may turn around once in the length of time it takes to circle the earth, the centrifugal force will be relatively minor.

Again arithmetic shows that if a stable platform is used and the satellite has a 100-minute period and the distance from the center of motion to the dog is again five feet, the dog will be subject to an acceleration about one-thousandth that of the force of gravity on the earth's surface. This may be so small as to be negligible. But it still won't be true weightlessness. There seems to be always a slight rotation which gives a small gravitational field.

The only way to overcome this is to use a stable platform which will rotate once a revolution around the earth to compensate for the motion of the platform. If this can be done, then we have achieved true weightlessness.

While the Russians' statements that Laika was weightless may not be substantiated by fact, both the Russians and our own scientists will, in time, create weightless conditions.

Under Two Flags

Virginia, henceforth, will fly two flags, neither ever subordinate to the other, each occupying the top position on its own staff. One is the flag of the United States. The other is the flag of Virginia.

The rest of the country has greeted this decision with divided feelings. It has been so long accustomed to one principal flag—the Stars and Stripes.

Actually Virginia is violating no law. The Constitution of the United States defines a separation of powers, giving to the Federal Union certain sovereign powers, reserving to the states all other sovereign powers. Certainly a state flag is a sovereign flag where the powers reserved to the states are concerned. This should settle the question for those who love to be legalisitic.

But in attacking the question from a factual angle Virginia's two-flag decision points less to a question of legal right and of technicalities, than to the fact that few people in the United States ever pause to dissect their dual citizenship and seldom draw a distinction unless there is some political expedience involved. To many the degree of citzenship fluctuates according to what they want the federal government to do or not do at a given moment. They are against federal intervention when the subject is federal aid to education, but very much in favor of intervention in the enforcement of desegregation. Administrations are strong for states rights when they do not wish to commit the national effort to something they do not like, but they do not hesitate to discount states rights in other instances, such as handing over public assets as in the case of offshore oil.

About all that can be dredged out of this cloudy subject is a suggestion that every citizen give it some deserved thought to find out where he really stands.

A Role For Rockefeller

Governor-elect Nelson Rockefeller of New York continued to receive most cordial welcomes at all of his points of call in South America. When Brazil rolled out the red carpet for him at Rio De Janiero he acquitted himself well, especially in his interpretation of the significance of the American elections.

While Rockefeller was proving himself to be a highly acceptable representative American in Latin America, the 21-member Latin American committee of the Council of Organization of American States was hearing new plans in Washington for this country's economic and technical co-operation with South America. While the conference fell short of declaring South America first on the United States foreign co-operation agenda, it substantially brightened the Latin American future.

This combination of events provides encouraging news of warming relations. They contrast noticeably with the disturbing incidents in connection with Vice President Nixon's Latin American visit a few months ago.

It is conceivable that Governor Rockefeller can be of continued help in the development of new and better relations and it would not be amiss if the national administration asked for some of his time. Since he has become a national political figure America would like to see a sample of his international abilities. And since it is of highest importance that Latin-American friendship is strengthened there is the place he could be the most useful, both as an adviser to the administration and as a representative, dealing with the nations to the south.

Two Good Actions

Parks and streets came in for good improvements or proposals during the past week. Good news for those interested in parks was the Park and Recreation Board recommendation for City Council approval of a plan for beautifying the small section of Antelope Park at 27th and D.

This is the saucer-shaped tract of land directly across the street from the popular sunken gardens at 27th and D. The park is to be developed with income from the Winnett Trust Fund. The area is to be known as Winnett Gardens in memory of the late Dr. Hudson J. Winnett whose generous bequest established the working trust fund.

The area will be developed around a lighted fountain as a centerpiece. There will be walks, a small pond and extensive landscaping to set off the center fountain. The tract could very easily develop into an attractive equal to the sunken gardens. The development, or the planning for it, is a tribute to the desires of Park Superintendent James Ager to give Lincoln the finest park system that is possible.

As for streets, there has been a small but important improvement made at 27th and South. To facilitate easier right-hand turns for westbound traffic on South, the city has cut back the northeast corner of the intersection of 27th and South. This has made turning much easier and much safer at this busy intersection.

It was not a big job in terms of money spent but it was a fine improvement in terms of public convenience. It is hoped that study is given to the cutting back of other corners where traffic is heavy and turning is now a difficult thing to maneuver. These small things go a long way in building good public relations for the city and confidence of the people in the government.

Ladies' Styles

A fashion note from Zululand, Africa says the hottest thing around is the automobile tire. Zulu women who are anything at all must have one. The tire is worn around the waist as a thing of beauty, and also the support for the skirt.

Thank heavens, American women don't go overboard for bizarre styles. Tires or no tires they are sticking with the balloon dress and something they currently call the sack.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Fresh Player Breaks Deadlock

WASHINGTON — To put a new player into the tricky game of diplomatic give-and-take with the Russians is more often than not to draw a blank. But the other day it paid off in a very promising way.

Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee is not a newcomer to the complicated and difficult business of nuclear testing and nuclear weapons. For four years he has been a member of the joint committee on atomic energy and before that, during his earlier career in the House, he had an important role in appropriating funds for atomic development. But when he was named a member of the American delegation to the conference on nuclear testing in Geneva he was a green hand at the savage kind of chess match played with the Soviets in one international conference after another since the end of the war.

What Gore did after sitting in on that game in Switzerland for two weeks was to come up with a proposal that illustrates what common sense and boldness can do when applied to a seemingly insoluble diplomatic deadlock. The Senator flew back to Washington, got an appointment with President Eisenhower and found him receptive to the new approach.

In essence, this is what Gore proposed: Put up to the Russians an agreement to end all testing — excepting those conducted underground—for three years. If they turn this proposal down, then the blame for failure of the conference will be on them. And Gore felt after two weeks at Geneva that there was a good chance they would accept it.

Underground tests do not pollute the atmosphere and yet with such tests the military would be able to continue to carry out work on adaptation of nuclear explosives to small arms. The world, and above all those nations that do not have and therefore do not test atomic weapons, would be assured that for a long period no additional poison would be blown into the air men breathe and the seas they live around.

With the common sense that is grounded in his Tennessee background Gore had seen the weakness of the official American position at Geneva. Any agreement to stop testing must be preceded, in the American view, by a world-wide system of control and inspection. But such a system, as Gore perceived, is in practical fact an impossibility.

Therefore, the avowed American objective is an unattainable one. It is merely another piece moved on the chessboard to achieve a stalemate without seeming to want a stalemate. The inspection system would cost several billion dollars. Thousands of experts would have to be stationed at some 37 posts in Asia, 24, in North America, seven in Europe, many more in Australia and South America and on 10 ships permanently at sea. To be really effective the system also would have to include inspection posts in Communist China.

The Big Ones

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Of all Republicans holding high elective office, the largest group to escape the Democratic landslide consisted of holdover U. S. senators whose terms do not expire until 1960 or 1962.

They escaped the consequences of the Democratic tide:
For two or four more years in Senate seats they will abide.
They can't be called to stern account till next election day;
These Grand Old Party senators—the ones that got away.

With loads of optimism and a heap of wishful thinking,
They might conclude that two years hence the voting tide will turn:
Two years in which the G. O. P. can still be saved from sinking:
If that is their conclusion, they can only live and learn.

The Democratic upsurge was a mandate from the nation:
A reprimand from coast to coast: a firm repudiation:
A notice to the G. O. P. that it had gone astray:
All aided and abetted by the ones that got away.

A Great Leader

Avoca, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The trend and attitude precipitated by the recent election can be ascribed to one outstanding statesman, the late Franklin Roosevelt, a man who could see the man on the street as well as the man in the skyscraper and not only did he believe in and advocate honesty, simplicity and efficiency in government and business, he also saw that they were put into practice and did so without fear or favor or forestalling. This was at a time when the nation's economy and morale were reduced to a plight unprecedented and what had to be corrected was an uncalled-for predicament brought about through the negligence of the do-nothing preceding Hoover administration.

The people placed unlimited confidence in him and overwhelmingly and continuously chose him to be their leader from 1932 through the remainder of his life. Candidates who were successful in the election just past can do well to pattern after this great man's leadership. This election also showed that the New Deal wasn't so "raw" after all, but proved it was a program of realism opposed only by the prejudiced.

North Loup, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A headline in The Star said that Gov. Anderson wanted to know what Nebraska wanted. Nebraska wanted a change and needed it worse than any crying baby.

The Republicans were old enough to know better, too. A few more Democratic victories and they will be housebroken and safe to go calling in Democratic society.

National Monument

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your editorial, Hallowed Ground is Threatened (Star, Nov. 21), interested me very much indeed. I shall write to our entire congressional delegation as well as to the secretary of interior urging that the threatened desecration shall not be consumated.

The Battle of Antietam and its effect on the Civil War was more crucial than the Battle of Gettysburg. On that terrible September day more soldiers of the blue and grey were killed or wounded than on any other day of the war. Robert E. Lee's generalship was daring to the point of rashness.

With a wide deep river at his rear, the Potomac, and a Union Army much superior to his own in numbers and equipment in front of him, he held on to his position on the Antietam until he had taken captive 10,000 Union troops at Harper's Ferry.

General Peter Longstreet, second to Lee in Confederate command, testified that in the late afternoon of the day's battle 10,000 good Union troops could have marched any place they liked through the Confederate lines. Gen. George B. McClellan, commander of the Union forces, had a Union Army corps of more than 10,000 fresh men who had just arrived on the field. He did not send them in but held them in reserve.

Antietam, as the Union Army always called it, or Sharpsburg as the Confedfederates named it was a drawn battle because of McClellan's timidity. Nevertheless, McClellan was probably right in saying that this was the decisive battle of the Civil War.

Lincoln took this battle as the victory he needed and issued his famous Emancipation Proclamation. McClellan was fired as head of the army because in the language of Lincoln, "He has the slows."

Antietam should be made a great national battle monument equal to Gettysburg. Men never fought with greater valor in a greater cause than at Antietam. It was the decisive battle in what Winston Churchill calls, "The last great war between gentlemen."

Down With Stamps

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I heartily agree with the writer regarding the Christmas stamps one receives in the mail. It gets to be a bit disgusting. Christmas doesn't need to be a crutch for organizations to get donations.

Soon Easter will be here and there will be more stamps. How do they get the addresses to send to people all over the state? I'm tired of them, too. My waste basket is full.

Woman Charged With Paying Detective To Kill Wife Of Man She Loves

Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—The daughter of a former Greensboro policeman has been charged with hiring a Charlotte City detective to slay the wife of a state highway patrolman she loved. No slaying occurred.

BARBARA MASSEY

PATROLMAN SMITH

The detective whom 22-year-old Miss Barbara Ann Massey contacted signed the warrant for her arrest. She was picked up in Greensboro and freed under $1,000 bond for trial at Charlotte Friday.

The warrant accused Miss Massey of soliciting Detective Richard Ruth Nov. 15 "to commit a felony, to wit: to murder one Frances Smith, and as a reward for his felonious act to pay him the sum of $500." Ruth received a check for the sum.

State Highway Patrol Lt. S. L. Willard identified Mrs. Smith as the wife of Patrolman Ransom Smith of the Greensboro troop.

Trooper Resigns

In Raleigh, patrol Col. James R. Smith (no relation to the trooper) said the patrolman's resignation from the force has been accepted. The colonel added, however, that Smith "had a splendid record and had been an outstanding member of the patrol."

Both Charlotte and Greensboro police shrouded the bizarre case in silence and did not explain how Miss Massey had come to Detective Ruth.

Charlotte prosecutor W. H. Scarborough said the common law charge is a misdemeanor, carrying a maximum sentence of two years. Scarborough said he knew of only one other case like it in North Carolina history.

Smith Cleared

Lt. Willard said Miss Massey, an assistant case worker with the Guilford County Welfare Department, had made a statement to police clearing Patrolman Smith of any implication in the charge.

Miss Massey's lawyer, Welch Jordan of Greensboro, said he had made an appointment with a psychiatrist for her after her release on bond.

The defendant, a member of a well known Greensboro family, is a graduate of Wake Forest College, where she was the first girl in the college's history to become a member of the debating team while a freshman. As a high school student, she won the national Knights of Pythias public speaking contest in St. Louis, Mo., in 1953. After being graduated from Wake Forest, she attended the college's law school for one year.

Omaha Race Problem Seen First Hand

. . . By 30 Students

Thirty University of Nebraska students affiliated with the campus Congregational-Presbyterian Fellowship, toured Omaha Saturday to learn about some of the human problems of that city.

The tour, which introduced the students to Omaha minority groups, included talks on patterns of urban growth and housing segregation, City Mission's services on behalf of Indians, and problems of Indians living on reservations and living in an urban setting.

The group visited the depressed housing areas in East Omaha and the Near North Side, the Logan-Fontenelle public housing project and the Labor Temple where they visited with union leaders on the role of unions in employment discrimination.

The tour was arranged by Sol I. Littman, regional director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

Six of the students had accompanied Verlyn Barker, associate pastor of the Congregational-Presbyterian Fellowship, on a tour of the southern states last summer. Purpose of the tour was to study racial conditions in the South first hand.

According to Barker, the students felt a similar process was occurring in Nebraska and they were determined to examine the situation more closely this year.

Newsman Loses Camera To Police In East Germany

Berlin (AP)—East German police confiscated the camera of CBS cameraman Ernst Lechner as he was filming views of the Soviet-run East Berlin Sector.

West Berlin police said East German police crossed the sector border and took the camera from Lechner, a German citizen, as he stood on a West Berlin vantage point. The action occurred at the Potsdamer Platz, an area where there have been numerous border incidents because the border zigzags through the area in a confusing manner.

Ernest Leiser, CBS TV reporter and Germany Bureau chief, said he made an attempt in East Berlin to recover Lechner's camera but was not immediately successful.

Fire Forces Ship To Head For Port

Honolulu (AP)—With a fire in her foward hold, the Danish freighter Nicoline Maersk plowed through rough Pacific seas toward Honolulu with a Coast Guard cutter ready to help if needed.

The Coast Guard said the Nicoline Maersk was not in danger and needed no assistance so long as the fire remained confined.

The ship and escorting cutter Blackhaw were expected to reach Honolulu harbor. The Nicoline Maersk, en route from San Francisco to Manila, was diverted to Honolulu after the fire broke out about 500 miles north of here.

Typhoon Nears Luzon

Manila (AP)—Tropical storm Nancy has intensified into a typhoon packing 85 miles an hour winds near the center and is churning toward Northern Luzon. The Manila Weather Bureau plotted the typhoon 320 miles east of Catanduanes, Central Philippines.

If You Don't Tell Boss You Must Tell IRS How Expense Account Spent

(This is the second in a series of two articles on expense accounts, based on information provided by the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

During the past fifteen years the expense account has grown from a petty cash kitty to a fat-cat fringe benefit for millions of Americans. It has become a tax-free short cut to gracious and sometimes lavish living for many businessmen — but now the pinch is on.

The Internal Revenue Service has announced tough new requirements for reporting reimbursed business expenses on this year's federal tax return. They are aimed at curbing expense account cheating without imposing on millions of small taxpayers the burden of keeping detailed records of relatively minor business transactions.

Under the new rules, taxpayers who do not account to their bosses for their expense accounts will be required to account on the 1958 tax form. Employees who are reimbursed for only the amounts they spend and submit an itemized accounting of their business expenditures to their employers do not have to report the details of their expense account activities to the government.

Definitely Unchanged

While the 1958 reporting requirements make it clear who must tell all to the tax agents, they in no way change the federal tax law's definition of what makes a business expense deductible. Businessmen are still permitted to deduct the cost of entertaining customers, prospective customers, manufacturers, suppliers and even purveyors of information so long as the entertainment was for business — not personal — reasons and the expense was "ordinary and necessary."

The question of what is an "ordinary and necessary" business expense is difficult to define. The Internal Revenue Code gives some general rules but few exact answers, and it depends to a great extent on the facts of each case. In all cases, however, there must be a demonstrable direct relationship between the business and the expense.

Many smaller taxpayers fail to take deductions which they are entitled on their personal tax return because they believe that only an employer can claim a business expense deduction. This is not true.

And remember that you are permitted to deduct most "business" expenses to arrive at adjusted gross income, while you must subtract such expenses as charitable donations, medical bills and other "personal" expenses from adjusted gross income. This means an employee may take all the travel deductions to which he is entitled, and still take the standard 10 per cent deduction for other allowable expenses.

The following are the more important travel and entertainment deductions available to taxpayers who work on an expense account:

Transportation—All costs of transportation by train, plane, ship, bus, taxicab and so forth are deductible. So are tips. You are not required to travel by the cheapest means available. You may go first class if you like.

Hotels and motels—Normally you will have no difficulty about claiming a deduction for individual accommodations. It is increasingly difficult to justify accommodations for a wife and/or family, however. Tax agents will disallow laundry, cleaning and pressing charges and other personal items such as cigarettes and non-business phone calls even though they appear on your receipted bill.

Luncheons and dinners—You may deduct the cost of wining and dining customers, prospective customers, manufacturers, suppliers and purveyors of information. As for your own meal, you are permitted to deduct only the amount over what you "normally" would have spent had you not been entertaining. The less obvious your business purpose, the harder you will have to work to show the connection between the expenditure and business. Tips are deductable if they are in conjunction with meals bought for customers.

Country club dues—If you want to claim a deduction for all or part of your club dues, be prepared to prove that membership is a business necessity. A man who would belong to a club whether it helped his business or not has a difficult time making this deduction hold.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

Well, the long, cold winter evenings are upon us. A blazing fire in the fireplace. And the homestead snuggled down under a warm mortgage.

I am in great demand when the days are short and the tricycle is stowed away in the attic. There is a suspicion around the scatter that I am a fair hand at storytelling.

"Once upon a time, there was a rabbit . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

For a while I purchased children's books and read them aloud. But the plot was so boring, I lost interest.

The rabbits in children's books are a bunch of flop-eared do-gooders. They have no appeal to me. The rabbits in the book are always picking berries for their mother. She will make them a berry pie.

After hearing this, my 3-year-old boy went out and picked all the lemons off the lemon tree. He picked the green ones and the ripe ones and put them in the red wagon and dumped them down the hill.

I consider this a fair literary criticism.

☆ ☆ ☆

My rabbits in my stories are turning out pretty well. I am wondering what they will do next myself.

"Once upon a time there was a rabbit . . ."

"Peter Rabbit?"

"No. This rabbit's name was Harry the Hustler. He was a bank robber. He robbed carrot banks."

Let me tell you, Harry the Hustler is quite a rabbit. First place, he is no Flopsy Cottontail. He is a galloping Jack rabbit. He can lick any rabbit in our part of the country.

One way he keeps so strong is he eats all his vegetables. (I would rather feed this rabbit nothing but raw meat. But we have to get a commercial into the story.)

This rabbit robs carrot banks. Then he goes home and gives the carrots to his mama and she washes them and he eats them.

His mother is quite a rabbit. She is always asking him: "Harry, what are you going to do today?"

"Rob a carrot bank, mama."

She fixes up his robber's mask. It is a Mickey Mouse mask—just like the one we got for Halloween. Only now it is a little bent because somebody sat on it.

People think Mickey Mouse pulled the job. All the time it was the rabbit!

☆ ☆ ☆

I will report that I have had a little criticism on this story. That children should not learn about rabbits who go around heisting carrot banks.

I have really tried to fix up Harry the Hustler.

"Then he took the carrots and gave them to poor rabbits." This is not very believable. "First he ate the best carrots. Then he gave away the rest to poor rabbits." (That makes more sense.)

I threw in little things. About how he got up in the morning and washed his face. I have even toyed with having this rabbit give himself up and turn over a new leaf.

It is no use. This rabbit is out of hand. We settle down in front of the fire and we follow Harry. How he goes down and buys himself gum. And then he watches TV.

And then, somehow, before you know it, there he is in the Mickey Mouse mask. And the carrot banker is on his knees while the Hustler is scooping up the carrots and stuffing them in his carrot bag.

I think the carrot banker is the same one who holds the mortgage on the house. I wish Harry would pick that up while he is about it.

U.S. Still Doesn't Know Whether Moroccan Bases Must Be Abandoned

Washington (AP)—The United States is still waiting to hear whether Morocco will continue to let American military planes use the vitally important U.S.-built air bases in that North African nation.

An exploratory note to King Mohammed V in September remains unanswered.

Moroccan leaders after taking control of their country from the former French government of Morocco, declared that all foreigners must get out of military bases which they occupy. There was a suggestion of immediacy in the demand, but in some quarters here it is believed that the get-out-now command is aimed at France and Spain than at the United States.

Morocco became independent in 1956 after France and Spain gave up their Moroccan protectorates. Last spring the Rabat government urged evacuation of all foreign troops, saying it wanted to stay clear of all military alliances. While the United States waits in uncertainty, the strategic importance of its positions in Morocco is sharpened by the new tensions in Europe.

Berlin Involved

The controversy over withdrawing occupation troops from Berlin has produced talk about the possible use of force. Military activity in Europe would immediately place increased importance on the flanking positions in North Africa.

The U.S. Air Force operates 4 major airdromes in Morocco. American strategists emphasize their continuing value, entirely aside from the new nervousness about Berlin. They look at it this way:

As long as the U.S. Strategic Air Command continues to use medium range B47 jet bombers, forward bases such as those in Morocco will be needed.

Even with the long range B52 heavy jets in operation, the Moroccan bases are vital. In war, B52s would be launched against targets in Russia, then head for the nearest friendly base because their fuel would be insufficient to get them back to continental U.S. fields.

Even if there were no need to use the Moroccan bases, the United States would dislike seeing them fall into a power vacuum which some day might suddenly be filled by invading or infiltrating Russians.

What will the United States do about the Moroccan bases if it has to pull out?

The Pentagon and State Department decline to discuss the provisions of the original agreements with France under which the bases were built or of the proposals for negotiating new agreements with the Moroccan government.

Destroy Them

While the United States undoubtedly would like to see the bases safely neutralized if they must be evacuated by American forces, it is unlikely that either the agreements or American plans would involve any such drastic action as destroying them.

The U.S. policy, beginning with the many foreign bases built by the United States during World War II, has been when the Americans move out simply to turn over to the country involved the real estate, runways, structures, hangars, shops and some equipment such as traffic control towers.

Military men point out that, entirely aside from the hostility that any demolition action would arouse in Morocco, such attempts would be of slight value.

The longest, most costly work in building an airdrome is the initial grading and leveling of land, the construction of drainage systems. Runways and buildings can be constructed in comparatively fast time.

American military men demonstrated that often during World War II, when airfields demolished by a retreating enemy were put back into operation within days or weeks.

To Organize

Budapest (AP) — Communist Hungary's new parliament—named in a single-ticket election—will hold its first session with the opening meeting expected to be devoted largely to organization.

'Wee Willie'—Now 5 Pounds—Goes Home

"Wee Willie" Calkins was released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital Sunday. The tiny son of A.2c and Mrs. William Calkins of 2821 S has been living in an incubator since his premature birth Sept. 8. When his weight rose from 2 pounds, 3 ounces to 5 pounds, William Jr. was released to his parents. Doctors estimate he'll be under normal weight until he's at least 2 years old. He's shown here with his mother and dad. (Star Staff Photo.)

Bomarc Anti-Plane Missile Base Almost Completed

By Vern Haugland
AP Aviation Writer

Santa Rosa Island, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has completed basic construction of its first Bomarc missile training center and may launch its initial missile over the Gulf of Mexico next week.

The missile will be controlled by the SAGE—Semi-Automatic Ground Environment—push button defense system at Gunter Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., with the assistance of Eglin Air Force Base near here.

It will be tracked by Air Defense Command radar equipment along the Florida west coast.

Uses Own Brain

After the ground equipment has guided the Bomarc to the general target area, the missile's own target seeking brain will plot the course and speed of the simulated enemy aircraft, and steer the missile either into a collision with the target or close enough to it to activate a proximity fuse.

The Bomarc carries either a conventional high explosive or a nuclear warhead.

The expected firing next week will be the first from a site other than Cape Canaveral, where the Bomarc has been undergoing a long testing program.

$25 Million Project

Col. Joseph Myers, commander of the 4751st Air Defense Missile Wing, is directing the 25 million dollar construction project here and at nearby Hurlburt Field, which is a part of the Eglin complex on the Florida mainland.

The Air Force has announced plans to build 14 operational Bomarc bases along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and along the northern tier of states.

The 15,000-pound Bomarc pilotless airplane is 47 feet long and has a wing span of 18 feet. It has supersonic speed over a range of up to 250 miles.

Search Continued For Young Bride Missing On Return Trip To St. Paul

St. Paul, Neb. (AP) — Search continued Sunday for Mrs. Gerald Christensen, 16-year-old bride, who has been missing since her husband put her on a train at El Paso, Texas Nov. 7, bound for Omaha.

Sheriff Dan Schenck said Mrs. Christensen had gone to El Paso for a few days to visit her husband, who was to be shipped overseas with the Army.

The sheriff said Christensen put his wife on the train and notified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Petersen of St. Paul, to meet their daughter. She never arrived at Omaha.

Schenck said Christensen was granted emergency furlough and had gone home to St. Paul to help in the search for his wife. The couple was married last May. Christensen is 21.

The girls' parents received a letter postmarked at Junction City, Kan., but Sheriff Schenck said it was not definitely determined that she wrote the letter. Her family went to Junction City, but were unable to find her, he added.

Prince Sick

London (AP)—Prince Charles, the Prince of Wales, has been sick in bed for a week. Few people seemed to have known about it outside Buckingham Palace and Cheam School where the Prince, just turned 10, is studying.

The illness is nothing serious, a palace spokesman said. It was diagnosed as a catarrhal cold. The spokesman said Charles is expected to be up and about in a day or two.

LET US GIVE THANKS ON THIS DAY

Giving thanks is a family affair . . . and being part of a happy, loving family group is not the least of the things we have to be thankful for! Let us remember that as we gather together to count our blessings . . . the blessings of a fruitful harvest and festive table, the blessings of a free and democratic way of life.

WE GIVE VALUABLE NATIONAL RED STAMPS

Dear Abby . . .

What's Fair Is Fair

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You were out of order reminding that persons who wanted to leave money to animals that there were crippled children and mentally ill people who could also use the help. She knew that! People can ask for food when they're hungry and tell you where it hurts when they're sick, but dogs and cats have to depend on humans for help. Be fair, Abby, and print this.

ANOTHER ANIMAL LOVER

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: To "ANIMAL LOVER" who wanted to know how to go about giving some money to help animals: I have a little seven-year-old girl who is wearing a thin summer coat because we can't afford even a second-hand winter coat for her. Maybe you know a dog who would like to share his nice warm natural coat with my child ?

CHILD LOVER

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: If my dear deceased parents could have seen the way 22 relatives fought over a measly little estate of $5600 they would have left everything to dogs.

DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I am a 15 year-old girl and my father treats me like I was five. He says I can't go in a car with a boy unless the boy drives him around the block in his car. He says he wants to make sure the boy is a good driver and he wants to be sure the boy's car is in good enough condition to be safe. Abby, if I tell a boy he has to pass this kind of a test I will be an old maid. Please say something to my father in your column to help me.

"FUTURE OLD MAID"

DEAR "FUTURE": Your father would rather have a live "old maid" for a daughter than a dead debutante. But, if the boy has a driver's license and has not been cited for traffic violations, your father can assume he is a safe driver. As for evaluating the equipment — I think Papa could give it the once-over from the window.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for almost two years and I still haven't gotten him to do anything around the house. The only thing I want him to do is to fix our bed so the mattress will not sag. It is a simple thing to put a few boards across the frame and I would do it myself but I am in my seventh month, and am afraid to lift the mattress. But he will drive to his uncle's farm which is 2 hours each way to help his uncle put up a shack for a tractor while I sit and wait in the car for four hours. How can I get him to do his own chores first?

SICK OF WAITING

DEAR SICK: Some men are not moved to act until they have been hit in the pocketbook. Give him fair warning that if he doesn't do the necessary home chores, you will hire a handy man.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. I am 18 and people tell me I have more brains than my mother. She has been married three times and is now looking for a fourth husband. My father left her some money and the first thing she does when she meets a man is tell him about her securities, holdings and property. Her last two husbands took her for a good ride. How can a daughter advise her own mother not to rush into a fourth marriage?

WORRIED FOR MOM

DEAR WORRIED: You'd think that after three strikes Mom would give up the game. A mother is not inclined to take advice from her daughter—at any age. Assign a clergyman, or a respected friend to the task of advising her.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Eleven years ago I had a baby boy out of wedlock. When he was seven months old I met a wonderful man and we fell in love. I told him the whole story. He married me anyway and adopted my little boy. Since then we have had two of our own. We have never told the first boy that his "Daddy" is not his real father. Are we making a mistake, Abby, in letting him believe as he does? The only ones who know the truth are my mother and my sister.

KEEPING A SECRET

DEAR KEEPING: Go right on keeping your secret. Sometimes a kind lie is better than a cruel truth. If the time ever comes when you have to reveal the whole story, the boy will probably be mature enough by then to understand it.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ENG. LIT." MAJOR: If all the boys flunked and all the girls passed, perhaps your professor is grading on the curves?

☆ ☆ ☆

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

December Bride-Elect Honored

A December bride-elect was the guest of honor on Sunday when Mrs. Stanley Porter and Mrs. Leroy Kruse entertained a group of guests at the home of Mrs. Kruse.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Jean Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Donaldson, who will become the bride of Richard Holt on Saturday, Dec. 6. In addition, each of the 21 guests arrived at the party wearing a corsage fashioned of kitchen gadgets which were given to the soon-to-be-bride.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

News of newcomers and Thanksgiving plans dominate our suburban scene this Monday morning in Pershing Heights, Northeast Heights, and Cotner Terrace, so let's see who our new suburbanites are, and what Thursday holds in store.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

We're rolling out the welcome mat this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Saiser and their two children, Donald, 14, and Marjorie, 18, who have moved into their new home at 3000 N. 64th St. The Saiser family's former home was in Omaha.

It is also our pleasure to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Inness to Northeast Heights. They have moved to 6115 Judson from 3700 N. 64th St.

Younger members of the Inness family include Jimmy, 13; twins, Donna and Ronnie, who are 12; Kenny, 6, and Mark, nine-months-old.

A host and hostess at their home on Thanksgiving will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hereth who will entertain Mrs. Hereth's two brothers, Joohn McCall of Topeka, Kan., and Charles McCall of Wichita, Kan.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Pershing Heights' residents visiting in Port Washington, Wis., are Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Thoenes and their son, Hank, who are guests of Mr. Thoene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Thoenes. The Thoenes family left Lincoln on Saturday and will return in a week.

More news of Thanksgiving plans tells us that some of the members of the Pershing Heights mother's club will be hostesses at a Thanksgiving dinner at the Havelock YWCA on Thursday evening. Those attending the turkey-dinner will be Mr. and Mrs. John Herstein, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gettemy, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haar, Mr. and Mrs. Toxie Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Loostroh, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. William Duffield, Lt. and Mrs. Ralph Philbrook, and all of their families.

And then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Leon Overbeck and their children, Craig, Russell, and Lori Beth, will be guests of Mrs. Overbeck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Papke for Thanksgiving dinner.

Mention of the Overbeck family reminds us that on November 30th Mrs. Overbeck's mother, Mrs. Ida Overbeck, of Beatrice and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Grabowski and their family of Diller, will be houseguests in Pershing Heights.

COTNER TERRACE

Getting settled in their new home at 3444 N. 69th St. are Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Wolverton. Their daughter, Phyllis, who is 18, is a freshman at the University of Nebraska. The Wolverton family formerly resided in Omaha.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kruger will be guests of Mrs. Kruger's mother, Mrs. Louise Weishahn, on Friday evening for a Thanksgiving dinner. Others included on the guest list will be Mrs. Kruger's three brothers, The Rev. and Mrs. Milton Weishahn of Des Moines, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Don Weishahn and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Weishahn and their family.

The Rev. and Mrs. Milton Weishahn will be guests of the Rev. Weishahn's mother during their visit in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hansen and their children, Claudia and Scott, will be guests of Mrs. Hansen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lipke at their home in Omaha on Thanksgiving day.

A warm welcome is extended to Lt. and Mrs. Don A. Patterson and their 11 month-old son, Paul, who moved into their home at 3142 N. Cotner on Nov. 1. The Patterson family previously lived in Wichita, Kan.

Speaking of the Patterson family reminds us that on Friday Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. Brown of Kalispell, Mont. arrived in Cotner Terrace. They will remain in Lincoln until January 1st.

We also want to greet Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Landenberger who have moved into their new home at 6631 Adams, Cotner Terrace, from Crete.

Younger members of the Landenberger family are Steve, who is four, and three-year-old, Sherry.

The Landenberger family will spend Thanksgiving day in Beaver Crossing at the home of Mrs. Landenberger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rieger.

And again we're rolling out the welcome mat, this time for Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. DePriest and their children, Cynthia, 5, and Janis, who is 17 months-old, who recently have moved to Cotner Terrace. Their present address is 3110 N. Cotner. The DePriests are just back from Guam.

Christmas Is Coming

Get out your scissors, metallic wrapping paper, and scraps of ribbons and felt, because Christmas really is coming — so let's decorate that mantel for the holiday season.

To make the drum and clown centerpiece, cut two 8 inch discs of styrofoam and insert a 9 inch wooden dowel stick through the center of both discs. Remove the top disc, and glue one end of the stick into the bottom disc.

Cut a cylinder of heavy metallic paper (you may have to insert a clyinder of plain paper for added strength) and staple the ends. The cylinder should be one-half inch smaller than the discs. Place on the lower disc and put the top disc on the dowel. Add a 5 inch styrofoam ball for the head by gluing the top of the dowel stick and pushing the ball down over it.

For the clown's ruffled collar, gather lacelon ribbon and tie it securely around the neck. Cut a 2½ inch styrofoam ball in half with a saw-toothed knife and fasten onto the head with toothpicks to form the ears. A tall cone of paper fashions the clown's cap.

His nose could be a holly berry or small Christmas tree ornament. Bits of paper or felt are pinned on for his eyes and mouth. Springs of holly, ribbon and silver cording complete the trim of the drum.

The candle holders are 5 inch styrofoam balls. Flatten the balls slightly so they will sit firmly and not tip. Make a small cross-cut in the top to make a hole for the candle. The scalloped "hat" (which will catch the candle drippings) are cut from bright wrapping paper.

Pin paper or felt and a tiny ball on to form a face. Clusters of holly and ribbon fastened to the ball with pins make the gay "earmuffs."

Afternoon Ceremony

Arrangements of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow gladioli formed the chancel decor for the wedding of Miss Nancy Lee Woodward, daughter of Raymond Woodward, and Jack Dale Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schwartz, which took place on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 23, at Christ Methodist Church. The Rev. Richard Lingard solemnized the 4 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Carl Weber of Dorchester. Mrs. Weber also accompanied Miss Joan Kersenbrock, the vocal soloist.

As her sister's maid of honor Miss Judith Ann Woodward appeared in a waltz-length frock of iridescent emerald green taffeta, fashioned with an overskirt of matching net. She carried a cascade bouquet of bronze-toned chrysanthemums. The bridesmatron, Mrs. Harold Noble, wore a frock of mink-toned taffeta designed on identical lines to that of the maid of honor. Michele Rothkop of Omaha was the flower girl, and David May of Wichita, Kan., was the ring-bearer.

Harold Noble served Mr. Schwartz as best man, and the ushers were Gene Ryan, Charles Phillips and Weldon Linke.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of lace and tulle over satin. Designed with a deep yoke of lace which created a sabrina neckline and brief sleeves, the bodice was snugly fitted above the waltz-length skirt fashioned of alternating tiers of lace and tulle. A shell hat held in place her shoulder-length veil and she carried a bouquet of feathered white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

Mr. Schwartz and his bride will reside at 1929 Prospect St.

BETH

BY BETH DERING
Of University High School

University High School students were busy with the final preparations for the school variety show, the high spot of the week-end. The show "enchanted Evening" was held both Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. This week the third annual variety show was for University High. Eighteen acts, including both faculty, and student-teaching numbers were presented. Tickets were sold by the Student Council and the Tutor League members.

It seems as though Uni carried high the flag of victory at the state press convention held November 7 and 8. Four students placed in individual events which resulted in runner-up for the sweepstakes award. Those students placing were Sharon Purbaugh, Jerry Mayer, Beth Dering and Marilyn Miller.

Introducing the Tutors . . .

Roger "Ace" Vollstedt, another of the Uni basketball stars for this year, is one of the top men on the squad. Rog stands six feet and weighs 190 pounds. After playing reserve ball in his sophomore year and varsity in his junior, he will return for more varsity play as a senior.

Basketball, however, is not Rog's only athletic accomplishment, for he is also very active on the track squad. He has added much to the squad during the past two years. He excels mainly in the shot-put and discus events.

Because of his hard work in the sports field Rog has earned several letters. He has been active in the U Club for the past two years, and this year he will serve as the club treasurer.

Rog came to Uni as a freshman and has been a popular member of the student body. Last year he was elected vice-president of the junior class.

Aftr graduation this June Rog plans to go on to college. He is still undecided as to which school he will attend.

Rog only had one comment when asked about this years basketball season. That was, "We're out to take state!"

Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vollstedt of Emerald.

When the Uni Tutors run out on the court this year, be sure to look for the "Ace" wearing the number 99 jersey.

That Something Extra-Special For Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving dinner chores seem to be a breeze in this modern day world. Gone is the chopping block and feather plucking session—thaw, bake and serve seems to be the by word of the modern housewife.

This is not to imply that Thanksgiving dinner is no longer a mouth watering affair, indeed it is, but the hostess no longer appears with that bedraggled look and weary smile.

Now, a twist of the can opener means tempting cranberry sauce in a matter of seconds. And in a few more seconds, you can make an extra special cranberry relish.

If you like something tart try . . .

CRANBERRY LEMON RELISH

- 2 pound cans jellied or whole cranberry sauce
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

If jellied cranberry sauce is used, crush sauce with a fork or beater. Add lemon juice and grated lemon rind. Chill until serving time.

If you like a fruit-filled relish try . . .

CRANBERRY APPLE RELISH

- 1 apple (medium tart)
- ½ cup diced celery
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish
- 1 pound can whole cranberry sauce

Quarter apple and core. Put through coarse blade of food chopper or finely dice. Combine with diced celery, salt, horseradish and whole cranberry sauce in mixing bowl. Let stand in refrigerator for 3 to 4 hours. Makes 2 cups relish.

For something just a bit different and delicious in the turkey dressing line you might like to try this new recipe—

OLIVE CLAM STUFFING

- 1½ cups ripe olives
- 3 T. minced onion
- ¾ cup butter or margerine
- 12 cups soft bread crumbs
- ¾ cup thinly sliced celery
- 1½ tsp. salt
- ¾ tsp. thyme
- ¾ tsp. black peper
- 1½ cups drained minced clams
- ¾ cup liquid from clams

Cut olives into large pieces. Cook onion slowly in butter until tender but not browned. Pour over bread crumbs. Add olives, celery, salt, thyme and pepper, and toss lightly to blend. Add clams and sprinkle clam broth over crumbs to moisten lightly. Toss to mix thoroughly.

Makes enough stuffing for a 12 pound turkey.

When Thanksgiving dinner is served late in the afternoon, why not have a brunch get together around 10 o'clock to keep family appetites happy.

Here's a recipe perfect for the occasion. It's easy to make and so colorful—fragrant with cinnamon and apple and unusual in flavor. Top your menu with fruit juice, crisp bacon or sausage and lots and lots of steaming coffee.

CRANBERRY APPLE BRUNCH CAKE

- 2 cups sifted all purpose flour
- 3 T sugar
- 3 tsp double acting baking powder.
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 T. water
- 12 ¼" slices jellied cranberry sauce (approx. a 1-lb. can)
- 1 large apple, pared and quartered
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- 2 T. melted butter

Sift together flour, 3 tablespoons sugar, baking powder and salt. Whip cream until thick, but not stiff. Blend in egg and water. Stir into dry ingredients until dough clings. Spread evenly in a well-greased 9" square cake pan. Cut jellied cranberry sauce in ¼" slices and place over dough, overlapping edges. Cut apple quarters into 4 slices and arrange in rows, placing cut edges through sauce into dough. Sprinkle with mixture of ¼ cup sugar and cinnamon. Drizzle with butter. Bake in 400° F. oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm.

Cranberry Apple Brunch Cake may also be served warm as a pudding topped with light cream; or as a sweet dessert with whipped cream.

AND FOR BREAKFAST

Gather ye 'round and try these delicious Sausage Cornettes. To prepare, simply combine 1½ pounds bulk pork sausage with a 14-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Be sure the pineapple is drained. Shape this mixture into 8 patties, about ½ inch thick. Dip patties into beaten egg, then roll in crushed corn flakes. Brown patties in melted lard, turning occasionally until done, about 45 minutes.

CHIEFS' 3-I FUTURE DELAYED

Realignment Move Withheld A Week

Applications Accepted From Four Cities

Lincoln Star Special

Chicago, Ill—Lincoln's bid to stay in professional baseball through entry into the Three-I League will remain undecided for at least another week.

Directors of the Three-I accepted applications for membership from 4 towns here Sunday, then voted to withhold action until next week at the minor league convention in Washington, D.C.

The 4 towns applying were Lincoln, Topeka, Sioux City and Peoria, Ill.

Hal Totten, president of the Three-I, said his directors had discussed the entire matter but had been advised by Eddies Gilleland, representing the baseball realignment committee, to withhold any final decision until any adjustments had been made by higher leagues.

"There are several changes in the offing on high levels," Totten said. "It has been decided there will be no further action on changes or on working agreements until next week. Any higher level realignment could cause a chain reaction.

"Therefore, we have the 4 applications under very interested consideration, but feel it best to delay any action until the Washington meeting when we will definitely make a final decision.

"We have requested Mr. Trautman (president of the National Association of Minor Leagues) to call a realignment meeting between the Three-I and the Midwest League as soon as possible. We already are going to meet with the Northern League at their invitation on Tuesday, Dec. 2, in Washington."

"We will sit with the door wide open. We can't shut the door in anybody's face."

It was believed the delay came about because of the failure of Des Moines to apply for membership here Sunday. Des Moines has been mentioned in the American Association realignment plans, but if this does not materialize then Des Moines would be a leading candidate for the Three-I League.

A. Q. Schimmel, president of the Lincoln baseball club, who made Lincoln's presentation along with secretary Vaulx Risser, said:

"It looks very hopeful. As of today they have 6 teams. With the 4 applicants they would have to go to 10 teams or certainly to 8."

The Three-I operated with 6 teams last summer—Cedar Rapids, Burlington and Davenport, Ia.; Green Bay and Appleton, Wis.; and Winona, Minn.

Winona, which entered in mid-season when Rochester, Minn., folded, was voted a franchise in the league for 1959 at the Sunday meeting.

Meetings of the Three-I, Northern and Midwest League are necessary to study possible franchise shifts. The 3 leaguers are overlapping.

The Northern League is very desirous of getting Green Bay and Appleton into its Class C league for next year. But those two teams are inclined to stay in the Three-I, if the travel problem does not become too great.

Schimmel told the gathering of Lincoln's "enthusiastic desire" to get into the Three-I League. He praised support in the Capital City from fans, businessmen, city and county governments, press, radio and TV.

He presented letters to the Three-I League from Gov. Victor Anderson, Mayor Bennett Martin and Harold Hoppe, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Adam Pratt represented Sioux City. He said the civic group which has run Soo baseball for two years is breaking up and that he is going to resume command.

Peoria, which was a member of the Three-I for 7 years before dropping out last year, is very interested in resuming operations. It was pointed out that Peoria has a population of 142,000 with an area population of nearly 300,000.

Farm club representatives of the Chicago White Sox, Chicago Cubs, Kansas City Athletics and Philadelphia Phillies attended the meeting.

While the Three-I is making its decision at the meeting in Washington next week, the Western League is also scheduled to meet and at that time is expected to toss in the towel on its operation, leaving Lincoln without a baseball affiliation unless the Three-I League berth becomes available.

Mullins, a 1931 graduate of Notre Dame where he played on Knute Rockne's last unbeaten team, has coached at Kansas, St. Benedict's, Loyola University of the South, Florida University and St. Ambrose, Ia.

Pekinese Wins 87th Best Of Show

Omaha (AP) — A Pekinese, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Venable of Atlanta, Ga., won its 87th best of the show title Sunday in the Nebraska Kennel Club annual show.

Int. Ch. Chik T'Sun of Caversham also won the toy breed class prize. The dog handled by Clara Alford of Catoosa, Okla., is the top-winner in the nation, having collected 87 titles in 23 months.

Our Gal Mi-Mi, an Omaha toy poodle, scored high in the obedience trial with 198½ of a possible 200 points. The dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reichenbach, also won the Open B Class and was the only Nebraska winner.

Philadelphia's Bob Pellegrini (on top) and Tom Brookshier (bottom) stack up Clevelands' Jim Brown (32) to stop him for a short gain. Eagles held Brown to 66 yards, his lowest total of year.

Bobby Mitchell's Kick Returns Pace Cleveland Victory, 28-14

Cleveland (AP)—Two sensational scoring kick returns by rookie halfback Bobby Mitchell, the first a 98-yarder on the opening kickoff, provided the spark Sunday as the Cleveland Browns defeated Philadelphia's Eagles 28-14 in a National Football League game.

Mitchell's first-quarter pyrotechnics nullified a great passing performance by Norm Van Brocklin, Eagles' quarterback who completed 18 of 29 tosses for 210 yards in a brilliant comeback attempt.

The former Illinois speedster brought the crowd of 51,319 to its feet as he took Dick Bielski's kickoff on the two, headed up the middle to the 30, and then broke down the sideline for the opening score without being touched. Lou Groza converted and the Browns led 7-0 with less than 15 seconds played.

Late in the first period, Van Brocklin punted. Mitchell gathered it in on his own 31 and streaked 69 yards into the end zone after tip toeing through a host of Eagles' tacklers.

After that the Eagles played the Eastern Division leaders on even terms. They matched second-quarter scores, Philadelphia going 81 yards in 15 plays to send halfback Billy Barnes in from the 4 for the tally. The Browns came back with a 79-yard 17-play march, with Lew Carpenter blasting over from the one-foot line.

Another 70-yard march by the Eagles in the 3rd session ended on the 7th play as Van Brocklin hurled a 31-yard pass to Tom McDonald, who outran Cleveland's Bobby Freeman to make the catch in the end zone.

The Browns put it on ice in the 4th when Plum's 34-yard pass to Ray Renfro went in for a score. That 80-yard drive consumed 7 plays.

Philadelphia's Bobby Walston missed place kick attempts from the 48 and 41 yard lines in the only other Eagle's scoring opportunities.

Philadelphia outgained the Browns 325 to 278 yards in passing and rushing, but could not overcome the edge of Mitchell's two big scoring thrusts.

Jim Brown, the Cleveland fullback, carried 20 times for 66 yards and caught two passes for 43 more. In 199 jaunts this year Brown has gained 1229 yards.

Giants Continue To Press Browns

New York (AP)—Veteran Charlie Conerly passed for two touchdowns and placement specialist Pat Summerall booted 3 field goals as the New York Giants rolled over the Washington Redskins 30-0 Sunday to remain within one game of the Eastern Conference leading Cleveland Browns.

A Yankee stadium crowd of 46,752 saw the Giants handcuff Washington's passing pair of Eddie LeBaron and Ralph Guglielmi to post their first shutout of the National Football League campaign. The Giants tallied in every period as they registered their 6th triumph against 3 defeats. The loss was Washington's sixth in 9 games.

The Giants, thanks to Summerall's accurate right toe, built up a 9-0 lead before they crossed Washington's goal line, late in the second period. The touchdown resulted from a 10-yard Conerly pass to Ken McAfee into the end zone, Climaxing a 95-yard march. Summerall's first of 3 conversions put the game on ice 16-0.

The Giants last two touchdowns were scored by Frank Gifford and Bob Schnelker. Gifford caught a 13 yard pass scoring by Conerly in the 3rd period and Schelker grabbed a 4 yarder from Don Heinrich in the fourth quarter.

New Year's Bowl Lineup Nearly Set

The Associated Press

All of the New Year's Day major bowl lineups were either completed or near completion today as the college football season entered its final week.

Here is how the 4 major bowls shape up:

Rose Bowl — Iowa (7-1-1) VS California (7-3-0)

Orange Bowl — Oklahoma (8-1-0) vs Syraucse (8-1-0)

Sugar Bowl — Louisiana State (10-0-0) vs Clemson (7-2-0)

Cotton Bowl — Texas Christian (8-1-0) vs Air Force Academy (8-0-1).

The Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl opponents are all set. The Sugar and Cotton Bowl selection committees have yet to name opponents for LSU and TCU. It is expected, however, that Clemson, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion will receive the Sugar Bowl bid and the unbeaten but once tied Air Force Academy will get the Cotton Bowl call.

The 'gator Bowl, which is played in December, still hasn't decided on its teams, but it has a wide list to choose from. Such teams as Rice, Southern Methodist, Washington State, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Pittsburgh and Rutgers are possibilities. It is understood, however, that Rutgers may accept an invitation to the Tangerine Bowl.

LSU, the nation's No. 1 team, proved its right to the top of the heap Saturday by overwhelming Tulane 62-0. A crowd of 85,000, largest ever to see a regular season football game in the south, saw the country's only unbeaten and untied team explode for 9 touchdowns to finish its first perfect season in 50 years. The Sugar Bowl bid was a mere formality.

Clemson, the Tigers' probable Sugar Bowl opponent, romped to a 34-12 triumph over Boston College as it prevented its opponents from moving into its territory until the final period.

California edged out Stanford 16-15 to capture the Pacific Coast Conference championship and earn the right to meet Iowa, the Big Ten champion, in the Rose Bowl.

Iowa, which had clinched the Rose Bowl berth two weeks ago, walloped Notre Dame 31-21 for its 7th victory in 9 starts.

Oklahoma trampled Nebraska 40-7 to win its 11th straight Big Eight Conference title under Coach Bud Wilkinson and a 5th trip to Miami's Orange Bowl. The Sooners have gone through 71 Big Eight games without a defeat.

Syracuse earned the right to meet Oklahoma with its tight 15-12 victory over West Virginia.

Texas Christian, with two scouts from the Air Force Academy among the 55,000 spectators, came from behind to whip Rice 21-10 and grabbed the Southwest Conference Championship and another trip to the Cotton Bowl.

The Air Force Academy, with only a 13-13 tie with Iowa to mar its otherwise clean slate, swamped New Mexico 45-7 for its 8th success of the season.

Rutgers, a virtual cinch to play in one of the smaller bowls, rolled over Columbia 61-0 as its star back, Billy Austin, scored 5 touchdowns. He made 34 points despite an injured left hand that had kept him out of last week's game, when Rutgers suffered its only loss, a 13-12 setback by the Quantico Marines.

While there were no bowl hopes hanging in the balance, Dartmouth captured the Ivy League Crown defeating Princeton 21-12.

Wyoming won the Skyline Conference championship polishing off Brigham Young 22-14 for its 7th triumph in 10 games.

Auburn, last year's national champion, remained unbeaten with a 21-7 triumph over Wake Forest. Only a tie mars its perfect record. The Plainsmen are in the bad graces of the NCAA and are not eligible to play in a bowl game.

'58 NU Output Improved, '59 Prospects Brighter

By Don Bryant

Norman, Okla. — Another Nebraska football season has come and gone, and while it wasn't a barnburner the Huskers will still have more to gloat about than they did last winter.

Two more wins, in fact, and both were over tough opponents. All told, the Huskers won 3 and lost 7 this fall, bettering their 1-9 mark of 1957.

Main problem confronting Bill Jennings and Co., seems to be in the Big 8 department where they managed only one victory again this fall.

But prospects appear brighter than a year ago after the Oklahoma finale.

Of the 23 Scarlets who toiled in the 40-7 lacing at the hands of the Sooners, 17 are slated for duty next fall. Seven players who started will be back.

Main loss will be in the backfield where 3 starters graduate. Back will be all 4 ends, all 4 tackles, both centers, 3 guards, both left halfbacks, one right halfback and one fullback.

Other Huskers who saw heavy action during the year, but missed the latter games are tackle Joe Gacusana, ends Roland McDole and Roger Brede and halfback Max Martz. They'll be back, too, along with tackle LeRoy Zentic who missed the Sooner tilt after a fine season.

Add to this group a promising—and large—group of freshman and some touted transfers and the picture brightens considerably.

Those who wound up their careers against Oklahoma were guard Dennis Emanuel, quarterbacks George Harshman and Roy Stinnett, halfback Larry Naviaux and fullback Dick McCashland.

Same Sooners

It was the same old story here Saturday during the lopsided contest.

The Sooners used two almost equal teams to batter the Huskers for 3 quarters, then tossed in a 3rd unit to add the frosting before turning over the final two minutes to the 4th and 5th teams.

Husker Larry Naviaux whose 93-yard pass interception return gave Nebraska 'ts only score, summed up the depth situation rather well Saturday night.

Referring to his long run that pulled NU up, 7-21 in the 3rd quarter, Larry said:

"If we could just have subbed another team after that, it would have helped. But we just had to keep playing. That depth means a great deal. Oklahoma is always fresh, but we get tired."

Defense The Same

While statistics don't mean too much, it's interesting to note that Nebraska's 1958 opponents made exactly the same number of yards rushing as they did in 1957. Both years the Scarlets yielded 2,787 yards on the ground.

The opponents passing was 745 this year to 806 last year for an almost identical total of 3,532 this year to 3,593 in 1957.

Nebraska's offense gained 1,168 on the ground and 415 in the air for a 1,583 total. Last year the Huskers gained 1,525 on the ground and 428 in the air for a 1,953 mark.

But while the defense was just the same and the offense wasn't as productive, the Cornhuskers won two more games.

Sports Editor, The Star

In a recent Star story regarding the new hunting dog owned by Meurice Graff of Seward—the Vizsla, to be exact—there was mention of a mystery.

But it's no mystery any longer. Mrs. Daniel Langfeld, Sr., of Danby Farms near Omaha supplies the answer. She writes:

"Regarding the Vizsla 'brought over by an Omaha woman, but nobody has ever found out what became of the dog,' I am happy to be able to dispel the mystery surrounding the whereabouts of both the Vizsla and her owner—the widely-known artist Elisabeth M. Mihalyi.

"For some time Mrs. Mihalyi and not one but 3 Vizsla bitches lived in Omaha; the artist still spends part of each year here, part in Minneapolis, but her home base is at Woodside, Calif.

"From the first litter of pups born in Omaha, at least one was sold in the Omaha area; I am sorry to say that I do not recall the name of the owner. Within the next two weeks our daughter, Barbara, will be in possession of a pair from the most recent litters. These will be some 7 or 8 weeks old and will be suitable for breeding.

"The former editor of the Vizsla News, Charles Hutn of Richton Park, Ill., told me that there are some 1,500 Vizslas in this country. He himself has 12, all with different bloodlines."

Comment: "We're happy to get the Omaha woman's name. And, by the way, in case the reader doesn't recognize Danby Farm . . . that's the favorite visiting place of youngsters who know they can see such wonders as Shetland ponies, miniature donkeys, horses, dogs, cats, kangaroos and llamas.

Bob Wagner, Bill Orwig and Bill Jennings write: "We are certainly excited about the results of the 1958 Extra Point Club . . . Please accept our personal thanks for your help in conjunction with the drive. We are most grateful to you for taking time away from your own work to give us a lift . . . We hope you will be rewarded by being able to watch improved athletic teams at the Universty of Nebraska."

Comment: The Star Sports Staff was glad to help. We believe Nebraska is going to become better in athletics, but we know it's going to take a lot of money—a la the Extra Point Club and the Touchdown Club.

Colts Trim Rams, 34-7

. . . Unitas Paces Rout

Baltimore (AP)—Quarterback John Unitas was back in the saddle Sunday for the Baltimore Colts and they rode high, wide and handsome to a 34-7 rout of the Los Angeles Rams after the first pass he threw went for a 58-yard touchdown.

Unitas, returning after two weeks of inactivity due to fractured ribs, also threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to give him 14 for the season and at least one coach in 22 straight games.

The National Football League record for touchdown passes is 23 games.

The Colts, ahead by only 13-7 going into the last period, made a fumbling wreck of the Rams and scored 3 touchdowns in 6 minutes to send a capacity crowd of 57,577 wild.

The first Colt pennant in the Western Conference loomed large on the horizon with only 3 more games to play. Beaten only by the New York Giants in 9 games, the Colts are two in front of the Chicago Bears and 3 on top of the Rams.

The Colt defense gave the Rams fits. It recovered 5 fumbles, two of which were turned into Baltimore touchdowns and two others stopped the Rams only a yard away from scoring.

The Colts also intercepted 4 passes to round out a frustrating day for the Rams who had won their last 3 games.

Husker Output Better In '58

asked Saturday night, was how Oklahoma will fare against Syracuse in the Orange Bowl.

Bud Wilkinson and Gomer Jones were still playing down the OB thing, but Big Red rooters wanted to know: "How bad will Oklahma beat Syracuse?"

Less confident fans asked: "Can Syracuse really give us a game?"

This scribe has seen both teams and would have to go with the Sooners on speed and depth. But Syracuse has a big line, some good backs and a fine quarterback and passer in Chuck Zimmerman. The Orange could make quite a game of it.

Adding humor to the situation is the fact that Wilkinson's wife is a Syracuse alumnus.

Statistically, against Nebraska, both teams are about the same offensively. OU totaled 447, Syracuse 399. But Nebraska managed only 11 yards rushing against Syracuse, while the Huskers got 80 against OU.

However, Nebraska had a host of regulars out of action in the Orange Battle.

Big 8 Windup

With the final Big 8 weekend out of the way, the standings reveal some suprises—after first place, of course.

Oklahoma won its 11th straight title (after a tie in 1946). Then came Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska and Iowa State. In the pre-season dope, Missouri didn't figure as the No. 2 team, Colorado was expected to do better and Nebraska was a solid choice for the cellar.

Small But Mighty

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP) — Dick (Whitey) Reimer, a 165-pound junior from Northampton, Pa., got his hands on the football 3 times and scored twice against Boston College. It was the first varsity game for Reimers who is the smallest player on the Orange squad.

Bratkowski To McColl Tips Lions

Detroit (AP) — Zeke Bratkowski hit Bill McColl with a pair of 3rd period scoring passes and sprung the Chicago Bears to a 20-7 triumph over the Detroit Lions Sunday before a Briggs Stadium throng of 55,280.

The Bratkowski-McColl combination brought the Bears from behind on a 5-yard scoring toss early in the quarter then clicked late on a 67-yard touchdown play that iced the bitter struggle.

The victory enabled the second place Bears to cling to a slim hope in the western division title chase, and mathematically eliminated the defending world champion Lions.

Bratkowski, the ex-Georgia star, was the surprise leader of the Chicago offense, blanked last week by league-leading Baltimore for the first time in 149 games. Until Sunday, Bratkowski was lost behind Ed Brown and George Blanda.

The Bears trailed 7-6 going into the 3rd period but got a break when Yale Lary's high punt took a bad hop and bounced backward to the Detroit 34, only 16 yards from the line of scrimmage.

California Isn't Biggest Or Best, But Might Be Scrappiest Bowl-Bound 11

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—"We're not the biggest team, nor do we have the physical ability some other teams have, but when it comes to clutch situations, hitting and fighting and scrapping for every inch, the Bears are tough."

Quarterback Joe Kapp, the big man in the great comeback story of the Rose Bowl-bound University of California, gave that analysis of the Pacific Coast Conference champions.

Asked about meeting Iowa in the Rose Bowl, the 205-pound senior co-captain replied: "We go all out for every game and Iowa will be the same."

All up and down the line the Bears told generally the same success story — spirit, coaching and teamwork.

They edged Stanford University 16-15 Saturday to nail down possession of the title in the final year of the PCC's existence. After losing the first two games of the campaign, the split-T Bears fought back to capture 7 of their next 8 and wind up 6-1 in the league.

As the season started, California wasn't mentioned with the West Coast favorites. The Bears in 1957 wound up with just one victory in 10 games in Pete Elliott's initial season. How could anyone expect Elliott, in his second year, to have a team go to the Rose Bowl where he had played quarterback for Michigan in 1948. The Bears lost their first two games, to little College of the Pacific and Michigan State, the team that finished last this year in the Big Ten.

Kapp suddenly caught on to the intricacies of the split-T and finished the season among the nation's leading ground gainers with 1,231 yards running and passing.

He's the guy that makes the club go, engineering tricky options where he can run, pitch-out or pass. But he has had plenty of help from the other co-captain, Jack Hart, and a host of determined underclassmen.

Hart Saturday scored both touchdowns and proved the workhorse in the triumph. He also tackled Stanford's Skip Face in the closing minutes that thwarted a conversion run that would have beaten the Bears.

Elliott said after the game: "Well, that's about as close as you can get them. One play, one point decides everything . . . the game, the conference and the Rose Bowl.

"Every team wants to play in a bowl game and every Saturday has been tough for us. I don't know how good a Cal team this is, but I couldn't be prouder of them. No squad has ever tried harder, in practice and in games. We have not scouted Iowa because there is a conference rule that calls for exchange of films instead. So far, I have no dates set for Rose Bowl practice."

Pete said he might ask his brother, Bump, for advice on the Iowa game. Bump has just been elevated from assistant to head football coach at Michigan. He coached several years ago at Iowa.

Hart, the hard-running 189-pound halfback, had his version of why California succeeded—"The greatest coaching staff in the world . . and Joe Kapp. We're not the greatest team ever on the coast, but we're in there scrapping all the time."

Late 49ers' Spree Slams Green Bay

Milwaukee (AP)—Y. A. Tittle threw 3 touchdown passes, two of them in a 21-point 4th quarter spree that fractured a 12-12 tie, to sharpshoot the San Francisco 49ers to a 33-12 conquest of the Green Bay Packers Sunday. The National Football League game ended amid a flurry of fist fights.

The victory, paved by two costly Packer fumbles in the final period, enabled the 49ers to vault over the Detroit Lions into 4th place in the Western Division. The sad sack Packers are 6th — and last.

Five players were ejected from the game in the closing moments. Fights broke out on both sides of the field and hundreds in the County Stadium crowd of 19,786 surged onto the turf, forcing a 5-minute delay.

The 49ers' John Thomas, Fred Dugan and Karl Rubke got the thumb as did Ollie Spencer and Tom Bettis of the Packers.

Tittle fired touchdown passes of 6 and 15 yards to Billy Wilson and then unlimbered a 23-yard strike to R. C. Owens, who leaped high in the air on his famous 'Alley Oop" play to grab the ball in the end zone.

Hugh McElhenny, the Hurryin' Hugh of old, plowed over from the two in the 49ers' feverish 4th period rally. He had his best day of the campaign, rushing for 159 yards on 22 carries.

Gordy Soltau booted field goals from the 17 and 26 and added 3 conversions.

Babe Parilli's 16-yard pass to Billy Howton and a pair of field goals by Paul Hornung, from the 41 and 37, accounted for the Packers' scoring.

Unbeaten List Chopped To 14

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State maintained its unblemished record by walloping Tulane 62-0 in its final game of the season. But the list of unbeaten-untied college football teams was reduced to 14 as Florida A&M, with a 6 game winning string, lost to Southern of Baton Rouge, La., 35-6.

Only two of the perfect record teams have games remaining. Arizona State (Flagstaff) winds up its campaign Saturday and Mississippi Southern closes its schedule Thursday.

LSU is the only one among the major colleges with a perfect slate. The list of unbeaten, untied teams:

Bobby Layne Pitches Pass To Top Cards

Chicago (AP)—Pitching Bobby Layne worked a 78-yard scoring pass play with Jim Orr to crack a 20-20 tie in the 4th period and sweep the revitalized Pittsburgh Steelers to their 4th consecutive victory 27-20 over the Chicago Cardinals Sunday.

Ex-Detroit Lion Layne had another brilliant day for the Steelers, completing 16 of 23 passes for 352 yards. The triumph gave Pittsburgh a 5-4-0 mark and kept alive the Steelers' title chances in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

The game-deciding play came shortly after halfback Tom Tracy made a heartbreaking fumble on the Cardinal 6 following a 56-yard gain on a pass from Layne.

Ollie Matson, playing fullback for the first time this season, got the Cardinals off to a 7-0 lead by racing 101 yards with the opening kickoff. Matson also scored Chicago's only other touchdown on a oneyard plunge which tied the score at 20-20 as the 3rd period ended.

Both Pittsburgh touchdowns, mainly set up by Layne's passing, were scored on runs of 5 and 8 yards by halfback Leo Elter.

Pittsburgh's Tom Miner and Chicago's Bobby Conrad each kicked two field goals and two extra points. Miner moved into the N.F.L. field goal lead with 12 for the year.

Pittsburgh	10	10	0	7	—27
Chicago	10	3	7	0	—20

Pittsburgh: TD, Elter 2 (5 run; 8 run); Orr (78 pass-run from Layne). PAT, Miner 3. FG, Miner 2 (37, 30).

Chicago: TD, Matson 2 (101 kickoff return; 1 plunge). PAT, Conrad 2. FG, Conrad 2 (38, 12).

Race Commission Gives Lincoln 19-Day Meeting

The Nebraska State Racing Commission extended Lincoln's Fairgrounds meeting to 19 days in announcing the dates for 1959 races.

The increase will give Lincoln 4 more racing days and will give the Capital City a Labor Day holiday program. Lincoln has had 15-day meetings the past two years.

The commission—composed of Earl Moyer of Madison, Grove Porter of Nebraska City and H. J. Schwab of Scottsbluff — also gave Ak-Sar-Ben two more days of racing or 37 days for 1959.

The 1959 dates:

Fonner Park (Grand Island)—April 14 to May 13, 23 racing days.

Ak-Sar-Ben—May 15 to July 4, 37 days, an increase of two.

Madison—July 7 to July 18, 10 racing days.

Columbus—July 21 to Aug. 8, 15 racing days.

Fairgrounds (Lincoln)—Aug. 11 to Sept. 1, 19 racing days, an increase of 4.

Mitchell—Sept 5 to Sept. 12, 6 racing days.

Alliance—Sept. 15 to Sept. 19, 5 racing days.

Atokad (South Sioux City)—Sept. 24 to Oct. 24, 23 racing days.

Irish, Spaniard Take Cup Laurels

Mexico City (AP)—A 25-foot putt from the fringe of the green on the 3rd extra hole gave darkhorse Angel Miguel of Spain a playoff victory over Ireland's Harry Bradshaw Sunday after the Irish had clinched the Canada Cup team golf title.

Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor had put together a two-man aggregate of 579 in the Canada Cup team event.

Playing in the same tense foursome at the end of the field, Miguel and Bradshaw closed with two-under-par 70's for a 72-hole score of 289, beating Flory Van Donck of Belgium by one stroke. Then they set out on a sudden-death elimination.

America's hopes again ended in frustration. Playing individually after the withdrawal of sore-backed Sam Snead, Ben Hogan trudged in with a two-over par 291.

State Corn Vote Looms

. . . Polling Tuesday

Nebraska farmers will go to the polls Tuesday to determine what they want in 1959 for their federal corn program.

State ASC officials said local polling places would be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Farmers will choose between the present allotment program with price supports of 75-90% of parity, and a program of no allotments with price supports set at 90% of the average corn price for the last 3 years, but not less than 65% of parity.

Under the new plan, 1959 prices have been estimated at from $1.12 to $1.15 per bushel by Agriculture Department officials. Supports under the old program have been estimated from $1.24 to $1.27 per bushel.

Lancaster County voting booths are located at the following places:

Buda and Centerville, Rader Hall, Sprague; Denton and Middle Creek, Emerald School; Elk and West Oak, Malcolm Hall; Garfield, West Lincoln, Grant, Lancaster and Yankee Hill, ASC Office, 2118 So. 15th; Highland and Olive Branch, Kramer Farmers Union Hall; Little Salt and Oak, Raymond Womens Club; Mill and Waverly, Waverly Village Hall; Nemaha and Panama, Panama IOOF Hall; North Bluff and Rock Creek, Davey Hall; Saltille and South Pass, Hickman Legion Hall; Stevens Creek and Stockton, Walton School.

Railroading Culbertson Man Builds His Own Crack Outfit

. . . Started As Toy For Grandchild

Culbertson, Neb. (AP)—Five years ago when his grandson was born, Walter Portiner of Culbertson promised to build the child a model railroad.

But Portiner didn't know building of the "Wall and Lee Lines Railroad" would become a hobby and he would still be at the project 5 years later.

The model project, which takes up about one fourth of Portiner's basement, is built to a scale of one inch to 8 feet.

It includes a complete town, Kay Ville, 66 feet of track, 4 steam engines and a mass of cars.

"I don't care too much for operating the trains," he said. "I just enjoy building all these things and working out the scale so that it looks realistic."

Complete Detail

The detail is complete down to tiny springs on the trucks of the boxcars and engines.

There are screws in the engines that are smaller than in any watch," he said. "Some day, I would like to put actual steam in one of the engines. This would give a more realistic effect."

His model is so complete that homes have television sets, the butcher shop has knives neatly laid out, and at the cafe, residents are taking a coffee break.

By salvaging materials, the model maker has managed to keep the cost of the entire layout to about $150.

Pope John Takes Possession Of Basilica

Rome (AP)—Pope John XXIII took possession Sunday of his Roman see—the basilica of St. John Lateran.

The bells of the city's hundreds of churches pealed and 100,000 persons standing outside the mother church of Roman Catholicism clapped and shouted and waved handkerchiefs. The Pope moved his arms in blessing as the crowd knelt.

Other thousands lining the sidewalks cheered as the beaming pontiff drove slowly through the city, past the colosseum and the forum and other ruins of old Rome.

The basilica, originally built by the emperor Constantine, is Rome's oldest. It is across the city from the tiny Vatican State. Pope John received the keys of the basilica from its archpriest, Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella. Silver trumpets blared a fanfare of welcome.

Reads Address

The Pope, just 26 days after his election, participated in pontifical high mass and read an address in Italian. In ancient times, he said, the ritual of taking possession of the basilica represented the Pope's assumption of supreme ecclesiastical power of the whole world.

"Today, after his election, the Pope does not require this investiture any more," Pope John said. "But it is a fact that in the great spiritual and religious manifestations, the human eye has always wanted and still wants to have its part.

"Peoples, times and tastes change. The ancient and grandoise papal riding procession to the basilica today would no more be understood. However, although this can seem to have been overcome, it is not so entirely.

"The ceremony today no longer concerns the prince who trims himself with the signs of external power. Today it concerns the priest, the father, the pastor."

He praised his predecessor, Pope Pius XII, "whose memory will remain glorious in the centuries," adding:

'Bright Path'

"Pray God that our work as the new universal pastor remain in the bright path of Pius XII and that those devoted to divine science gather around our person in greater numbers than ever so that divine science may illumine the human intellect in all its expressions."

Even though the Pope traveled to the basilica in a 10-car motorcade, the pageantry still bore likenesses to the colorful journey by horseback of the popes of medieval times.

An honor regiment of the Italian Army saluted the Pope on his arrival at the Lateran square. He knelt at the basilica's entrance and kissed a crucifix held by Cardinal Aloisi Masella.

After receiving the keys and accepting the homage of the basilica's prelates, the Pope was carried in his portable throne down the length of the great church, escorted by a long procession of Swiss guards in medieval armor, deacons and other churchmen, and members of the pontifical noble guard.

About 5,000 persons, including diplomats, priests and monks, were inside the church. A great throng waited outside.

At last Pope John appeared on the large balcony overlooking the square. Applause rippled through the crowd.

"Viva il Papa," the Romans shouted, "Long live the Pope!"

Fathers lifter their children so they could see. The crowd waved handkerciefs and scarves. The Pope raised his arms. The people knelt on the green lawns and the rough cobblestones in front of the basilica to receive the blessing.

Nasser Confers With Truce Head

Cairo, Egypt (AP)—Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn of Sweden, chairman of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization for Palestine, met with President Nasser here.

The Egyptians are reported to be pressing von Horn to reactivate the Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission, which the Israelis have boycotted since 1956.

Caril Passes Quiet Sunday; Reformatory Makes No Plans

Fifteen-year-old Caril Ann Fugate, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree, spent a quiet Sunday "without incident" at the Lincoln State Hospital, according to Dr. F. L. Spradling, superintendent.

But what incidents the future holds for Caril is uncertain at the present time. Mrs. Hattie B. Bowley, superintendent of the Nebraska Women's Reformatory at York, stated, "I'm making no plans until she arrives."

The first step to keep Caril from the confines of the reformatory will be taken before Saturday, her attorney, John McArthur said Sunday. He has until that time to file a motion for a new trial.

McArthur said he would file the motion but he could not say exactly when, only that it would be before Saturday.

Mrs. Bowley said that Caril's daily routine would depend upon many things, and that she didn't wish to make any definite staments until Caril does arrive.

The eight-acre grounds of the institution are enclosed by an 8-foot high-wire fence and prisoners are controlled by Mrs. Bowley, an assistant superintendent, a teacher and 12 supervisors.

Inmates work every day just as they would be required in any ordinary home, Mrs. Bowley said. There are meals to prepare, dishes to wash, etc.

High School Offered

The rooms have barred windows and are furnished with a bed, dresser, chair, table and rugs. The inmates all eat together in the dining room. They wear cotton-print dresses of varying colors.

One teacher is employed full-time to give individual instruction through the eighth grade. After that, the inmates may complete their high school work through the Extension Division at the University of Nebraska. If they complete requirements necessary for a high school diploma, the state pays for the extension work.

However, if the requirements for the diploma are not met, the inmate must pay for the courses herself.

Money Making

According to Mrs. Bowley, the women receive money in various ways. Many are sent money by relatives; others have money which they earn by doing knitting, crocheting and fancy work of various types.

At the present time there are 42 inmates at the State Reformatory, 8 of them from Wyoming, Mrs. Bowley said.

Italy May Outlaw Artificial Insemination

Rome (AP) — Two legislators have introduced a bill in Italy's Parliament to make artificial insemination illegal unless the donor is the prospective mother's husband.

Under the measure a woman could be sentenced up to a year in prison if she accepted a donor other than her husband. The husband would be subject to the same penalty if he authorized such insemination. So would the donor.

Chicago Likely To Get 1960 Political Conventions

Washington (AP)—Chicago apparently is leading more than a half dozen other cities in the scramble for the 1960 Republican and Democratic presidential nominating conventions.

Republicans have all but decided to take their convention to the Midwest in the hope of stirring up interest in an area where the party suffered some disastrous setbacks in this year's congressional elections.

Democrats also are attracted to the Midwest where they believe they can push the GOP further underground, as they have been able to do in the Far West.

The Democrats, who expect to pick their convention site at a Dec. 6 meeting of the party's national committee here, have a formal bid only from Chicago in the midlands area.

Others Offer GOP

The Republicans, however, have been approached also by Cleveland, Ohio, Kansas City, Mo., and Louisville, in the border state of Kentucky.

In the far west, Los Angeles and San Francisco are bidding for both conventions. After the Democratic sweep of California this year, however, that state has lost some of the appeal to the Republicans that caused President Eisenhower personally to pick San Francisco in 1956.

In the east, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and New York City all are in on the bidding. Southward, the Democrats are giving such serious consideration to Miami Beach, Fla., that National Chairman Paul M. Butler has just made an inspection trip there.

However, Chicago has an advantage in central location and time that has not been overlooked by the television-conscious committeemen of both parties. Mayor Richard J. Daley also promises to get the conventions out of the stockyards and into the city's new exposition hall on Lake Michigan.

Because hotels are demanding lengthy notice to block out the 10,000 or more rooms needed for each convention, Democrats say they are determined to make their decision Dec. 6.

GOP To Choose Later

The Republicans won't get around to their choice until later in the month and possibly not until mid-January.

There is strong pressure to put the two conventions into the same city, although that was not done in 1956. If the parties hold their meetings a week apart as they often do, they can share interior construction and decoration costs and thus cut expenses.

They also are being urged by representatives of the communications media to settle on one city to avoid the costly moving of heavy equipment.

Thanksgiving Has An Erratic History

Observed In Every Month But March, June And October

By Frankie Sharp
Associated Press Writer

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt sparked a thundering row in 1939 when he proclaimed Thanksgiving Day for the third Thursday in November.

"Thanksgiving has always been on the last Thursday in November," maintained the irate traditionalists. The chorus grew so loud that in 1941, Congress passed a joint resolution declaring that Thanksgiving should fall on the fourth Thursday in November.

But Thanksgiving hasn't always been on the last Thursday in November—it hasn't always been in November and a few times it hasn't even been on Thursday.

Since the first Pilgrim feast in 1621, Thanksgiving has been skidding around like a ball of butter on a hot skillet—and once it disappeared entirely for 47 years.

Pilgrims Skipped It

The Pilgrims themselves skipped their own day in 1622—the harvest was very poor and they didn't feel they had much to give thanks for.

The Pilgrims re-instated Thanksgiving in 1623 but it wasn't always in the fall. Once they gave thanks in July. The Thanksgiving custom gradually spread through the New England towns and states. The first nation-wide Thanksgiving was declared in 1777 by the Continental Congress.

There was one every year until 1783, then the custom died for 6 years. After the states reorganized into the present union, Congress decided to revive Thanksgiving and asked George Washington to proclaim a Thanksgiving Day.

The vote was over the bitter opposition of a suspicious-minded gentleman from South Carolina, Thomas Tudor Tucker.

"Why should the President tell the people how to do something they might not have a mind to do?" demanded Tucker.

Not Convinced

"How do we know the people are thankful for a Constitution that hasn't been tried out very long? We do not yet know but they may have reason to be dissatisfied with the effects it has already produced."

Nevertheless, Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed in 1789 by President Washington and popped up irregularly for the next 70 years.

Thomas Jefferson was a strict anti-Thanksgiving man, feeling it was a "monarchical" practice. But other presidents took more kindly to the idea.

The New England Thanksgiving had been a fall celebration, but presidents proclaimed national Thanksgiving Days in hop-scotch patterns.

There are only 3 months that haven't had Thanksgiving Days: March, June and October.

President James Madison proclaimed Thanksgiving Day on April 15, 1815. And that was the last national Thanksgiving Day until 1862 when President Lincoln declared one.

Lincoln Went All-Out

Lincoln, a deeply religious man, proclaimed 3 national days for prayer and 4 national days of Thanksgiving. He was the first president to make Thanksgiving a holiday, urging that work be suspended so that everyone might give thanks to God.

All of Lincoln's Thanksgivings were not in November, but his final one fell on the last Thursday of that month.

After Lincoln, all American presidents have declared annual Thanksgiving days and all of them have settled on a Thursday in November except Andrew Johnson. He proclaimed his first Thanksgiving for the first Thursday in December. Ulysses Grant put his first one on the third Thursday in November.

Otherwise, they all followed the pattern of the last Thursday—until Franklin Roosevelt.

Over the years, the Thanksgiving proclamations have faithfully reflected the personalities of the presidents. Hayes' proclamations were scholarly and lengthy; Grant's, short and homey; McKinley's dignified and heavily flavored with religion; Theodore Roosevelt's literary masterpieces of form and style; Wilson's, academic and serious-minded.

Franklin Roosevelt was the first to break the pattern of starting with a paragraph referring to the tradition of setting aside a day to give thanks. His started bluntly: "I, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States," and went ahead to declare the date.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY

Soak-The-Rich Theory Simply Doesn't Pay Off

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The unique characteristic of a sucker is the hope of getting something for nothing.

This human weakness is played upon by stock swindlers, operators of the numbers racket, and political demagogues.

Rukeyser

The late Fiorello La Guardia, while congressman from New York, set back realistic popular thinking about federal taxation for a generation by developing the yardstick of "soak the rich."

In 1932, at the low point of the depression, the Congress, hungry for revenues, was debating the advisability of authorizing a national sales tax.

La Guardia destroyed interest in the proposal by characterizing the sales tax as a device for "soaking the poor." As an alternative he advocated "soaking the rich" through raising the upper limits on the steeply graduated personal income tax rates.

LaGuardia's counsel has been taken with a vengeance, and the top rate on personal income is 91%.

And in the spirit of rock 'n' roll economics, which is based on emotionalism, many assume that you and I are getting a free ride on the cost of government through courtesy of the millionaires.

Few of us have the patience to dig into the facts to see what is really happening.

☆ ☆ ☆

The subject will be timely when the new Congress meets in January, and both parties begin to compete for glory in anticipation of the 1960 presidential election.

One difficulty with tax policy based on "soaking the rich" is that the rich as a class get only a small fraction of the total income of all the people.

The truth is that 84% of the federal revenue from the personal income tax comes from the basic 20% rate, which all of us income earners pay, and only 16% of the total comes from the higher graduated surtax rates.

If, for example, through amendment of the law the top rate was placed at 50%, instead of 91%, there would be a direct loss of only $734 million, or 1% of the collections, if all other factors remained equal. Since such a ceiling would provide new incentives to big income earners for constructive, risk-taking projects, there would probably be in fact a substantial net gain in tax receipts by Uncle Sam—not a tax loss.

This means that the propaganda that we are paying for national defense, federal aid to educaion, foreign aid, and the other major federal expenses through "soaking the rich" is phony.

☆ ☆ ☆

Nobody is going to shed crocodile tears for the rich. Harold Brayman, of the Du Pont Company, recently cited a case of how tax inequality hurt ordinary workers. A wealthy man was approached by a group who wanted him and his associates to put up $7,500,000 for a pulp and paper mill in the South.

Through supplementing the equity capital with heavy bonded indebtedness, there were projected earnings on the stock of $2,500,000 a year, which is approximately 33 per cent return on the $7,500,000 of risk capital.

But the man and his associates, subject to a 91% tax rate, turned down the deal. The stumbling block was that the $2,500,000 of earnings would be nicked by a 52% corporate income tax. Then, assuming that half of the remaining earnings were paid out in dividends, the rich owners, after paying a 91% personal income tax, would have left out of distributed earnings only 67c per $100 of investment — exactly two-thirds of 1%. The rich men preferred to get a riskless net return of 3% after taxes on tax-exempt local and state bonds.

Thus the employment that would have been offered to 500 to 700 persons, if the deal had gone through, didn't materialize.

The moral is that sound economics is based on "live and let live," not on a class-conscious motive to soak somebody.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive injuiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters, with self-addressed, stamped envelopes, should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Dr. Sockman Urges Sharing With Hungry People Abroad

Washington (UPI) — Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, noted radio preacher, urged Americans to celebrate Thansgiving by sharing this nation's abundance with hungry people abroad.

Dr. Sockman

"We can never establish world peace while two-thirds of the globe's population go hungry," he said. "We Americans have the chance to lessen the waste of our national abundance by giving to needy people abroad."

Sockman, pastor of First Methodist Church in New York City, is familiar to millions of Americans as the minister of the "National Radio Pulpit." His sermons have been broadcast to the nation each Sunday morning for more than 30 years.

He spoke at a special service in Washington Cathedral launching the annual Thanksgiving-week "Share Our Surplus" program.

Distributes Food

This program is conducted by Church World Service on behalf of 35 protestant denominations in the National Council of Churches. It distributes more than 300 million pounds of U.S. surplus food each year to hungry families in scores of foreign countries.

Local Protestant churches across the nation will take up special offerings for "Share Our Surplus" during the coming week.

The cathedral service was attended by government leaders, diplomats and churchmen of many different denominations in the Washington area.

Sockman pointed out that the food distributed abroad by Church World Service is supplied free from the surplus farm commodity stocks in government warehouses. Therefore, he said, each dollar in private contributions make possible the shipment of 300 pounds of food overseas.

'Express Gratitude'

"At Thanksgiving we meet to express our gratitude for the blessings inherited from our forefathers," Sockman said.

"Most of those who gave us this physical and spiritual inheritance have now gone beyond our sight," he said. "Hence our only way of showing our gratitude is by giving to the needy within our reach. Thus we carry on the spirit of the pilgrim fathers."

He said one dollar in "person to person giving" from "unselfish Christian motives" will create more good will in the world than "a million dollars spent on political propaganda."

Dr. Sockman was in Lincoln in the summer of 1954 when he spoke at the Nebraska Annual Conference of the Methodist Church. The prominent churchmen also spoke at the 1943 commencement exercises at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Fair Labor Exemptions Modified

New salary requirements for the exemption of executive, administrative and professional employes from the Fair Labor Standards Act will go into effect February 2.

The announcement was made by Clarence T. Lundquist, administrator of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

Under the revised salary tests, an executive employe, to be exempt from the Act's minimum wage and overtime provisions, must be paid a salary of at least $80 a week instead of the $55 now required. Administrative and professional employes, to be so exempt, must be paid at least $95 a week instead of $75, as at present. This amended scale will apply in the continental United States Alaska, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, Guam and American Samoa.

A special proviso for employes qualifying for the exemption under shortened duty tests will be increased from $100 to $125 a week, and will be applicable everywhere.

Lundquist emphasized that the regulations do not require employers to pay these salaries to persons doing executive, administrative or professional work. The new salary tests are for exemption purposes only.

If an employe who is covered by the Act does not meet the salary tests, as well as the duties and responsibilities tests, he does not qualify for the exemption. In such a case, the employer may of course continue to pay the employe on the basis of a salary, but the Act's minimum wage and overtime pay requirements must be met, unless some other statutory exemption is applicable.

The Act requires payment of a minimum wage of $1 an hour and at least 1½ times their regular rate of pay for all hours worked over 40 in a workweek to nonexempt employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production or occupation directly essential to such production.

Tug Of War Over Berlin's Fate Began 14 Years Ago This Month

Bonn, Germany (UPI) — The Soviet's current tug of war over Berlin began as far back as November, 1944, 6 months before the end of World War II, in the opinion of some military and diplomatic experts.

On Nov. 14 of that year, 14 years ago, Soviet and western diplomats met in London to sign a set of documents. These documents were to guide the Allied conquerors in their occupation of Germany.

Three documents were signed and a map drawn up that day. None of the documents contained any specific guarantee of Allied access to Berlin—which soon was to become an isolated city behind the Iron Curtain.

Thought U.S. Had It

The West believed it had those access rights. The U.S., British and Soviet governments had generally agreed that once Germany was conquered, it would be divided into 3 occupation zones.

Details of the division were outlined by the European Advisory Commission. Its members were U.S. Ambassador John G. Winant, Sir William Strang of Britain and F. T. Gusev of the Soviet Union.

The first document they approved detailed plans for ending the war, liquidating the Nazi state and establishing an allied control council in Berlin to replace the German government.

The second made each allied commander-in-chief the Supreme authority in his own zone of occupation, with unanimous agreement required on matters affecting Germany as a whole.

The third defined boundaries of the American, British and Soviet zones in Germany and Berlin. Later this document and the occupation map were amended to give the French their own zones in Germany and Berlin.

Just Assumed

Big 4 occupation of Berlin was assumed in these documents, although no specific provision was made for allied truck, rail and air traffic across the 100 miles of Soviet-controlled territory between the western zones and Berlin.

According to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former U.S. military governor in Germany, the omission was "not accidental."

In his book "Decision in Germany," Clay said Ambassador Winant believed that the Allied right to be in Berlin carried with it the right of access to the city, and that it would "only confuse the issue" to raise it with the Russians.

Winant felt strongly that to have raised the question would have aroused Soviet suspisions and made mutual understanding more difficult to attain, said Clay.

On June 5, 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as supreme Allied commander, and Clay flew to Berlin to arrange for entry of American troops into Berlin. But Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov stalled and Clay and a British representative had to come back to Berlin June 29.

Zhukov tried to limit the routes the western armies could use into Berlin, Clay reported. Finally a temporary agreement was reached to give the west access to Berlin via one highway, one rail line and two air corridors.

Free From Search

It was agreed, said Clay, that all traffic "would be free from border search or control by customs or military authorities."

In March, 1948, the Russians walked out of the Allied Control Council in protesting against the economic fusion of the American and British occupation zones. At the end of that month, the Russians said they would permit no movement of allied military passenger trains through their zone to and from Berlin unless Soviet soldiers were allowed aboard to inspect and verify manifests. The West refused, and the first Soviet blckade began a few minutes after midnight, on April Fool's Day.

The West supplied Berlin by air. But the Allies also began a counter-blockade, preventing the movement of goods from the West into the Soviet zone, grinding the Communist economy to a standstill. The Russians finally had to end the blockade on May 11, 1949.

Greek Queen Gets Eyeful In LA—Smog

Los Angeles (AP) — Queen Frederika of Greece called for an eye lotion Sunday at the height of a Los Angeles smog attack.

The smog was so severe an alert was almost called.

The concentration of ozone, an element of smog, rose to .49 parts per million parts of air. An alert is called when the reading reaches .50.

The queen sent out her personal alarm while being driven to a luncheon at the home of Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone in suburban San Marino. A motorcycle officer bought the eye lotion for her and she treated her eyes at the McCone residence.

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
